

Ford's Political Damage Being Assessed

Nixon's Pardon Has Repercussions

PRESIDENT FORD CHECKS SPEECH
(UPI TELEPHOTO)

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's unconditional pardon of Richard M. Nixon has pushed his fledgling administration into the backwash of Watergate, ruptured his rapport with Congress and sparked the protest resignation of a top aide.

As his advisors assessed the probable political damage from Sunday's surprise announcement, Ford was flying to Pittsburgh today to keep a speaking date arranged in the early, tranquil days of his transition.

Ford's disclosure of "a free, full and absolute pardon" for Nixon for any criminal conduct during his presidency was followed within minutes by a Nixon statement of remorse at "my mistakes over Watergate."

And, in the ensuing hours, there were these major disclosures and developments:

—Jerald F. terHorst, a close Ford friend and advisor, quit as White House press secretary, saying "mercy, like justice, must... be even-handed" and "I couldn't in good conscience support the President's decision... even though I knew he took that action in good conscience."

—Many Democrats and some Republicans in Congress voiced dismay at the pardon, contending it set a double standard of justice. But other Republicans, including Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller, hailed it as an act of compassion and courage.

—Lawyers for former Nixon aides and associates began reshaping their strategy for the Watergate cover-up trial, and at least one defendant, H.R. Haldeman, planned new efforts to delay the trial now set to begin Sept. 30.

Related stories on page 3.

—Ford aides made public an agreement they had reached with Nixon to preserve his White House files for at least three years for possible court use. But the agreement allows the former president to destroy any White House tape recordings after September 1979.

Although Ford's announcement caught the capital and the country by surprise, sources said it had been preceded by 10 days of legal deliberations and negotiations with Nixon and special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

It also represented a reversal of Ford's previous public statements. During his vice presidential confirmation hearings, Ford said, "I do not think the public would stand for" such a pardon. And at a news conference Aug. 28 he said it would be "unwise and untimely" for him to commit himself until his life... "any legal process has been undertaken" against Nixon.

White House counsel Philip Buchen said Nixon faced likely indictment prior to the pardon. He said it was granted without strings attached, but acknowledged Ford knew in advance the gist of Nixon's follow-up statement.

Three hours after he knelt in prayer at early morning communion services, Ford summoned a television crew and a few newsmen into his Oval Office to announce the pardon prohibiting any federal criminal prosecution of Nixon "for all offenses against the United States" during his 2,027 days in office.

"I feel that Richard Nixon and his loved ones have suffered enough," Ford said, speaking slowly and glancing often at a 950-word statement.

"My conscience tells me clearly and certainly that I cannot prolong the bad dreams that continue to reopen a chapter that is closed. My conscience tells me that only I, as President, have the constitutional power to firmly shut and seal this book."

He said it is "common knowledge that serious allegations and accusations hang like a sword over our former president's head and threaten his health as he tries to reshape his life..."

As Ford delivered his decision, his spokesman for a month stood in the rear of the Oval Office, grim-faced and silent. Later it was learned that a half-hour prior to the statement, terHorst, 52, had told Ford he was resigning.

"It was... after a great deal of soul searching that I decided I couldn't in good conscience support the President's decision... even though I knew he took that action in good conscience," terHorst said Sunday night in an interview with The Associated Press.

He noted that former Nixon aides are either in prison or under indictment for Watergate-related offenses and added: "Mercy, like justice, must also be even-handed."

"I knew my credibility would be difficult to sustain... in the absence of a like decision to grant mercy to persons of lesser stations in life."

John Hushen, 38, hired by terHorst last month as his deputy, was named acting press secretary.

Ford said in a statement issued by the White House press office Sunday night that he deeply regretted terHorst's resignation but "I understand his position."

Democrats led the parade of congressmen disagreeing with Ford's action, and they were joined by some Republicans.

"... A serious mistake," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. "It raises very real questions... about whether we have a double standard of justice in this country."

"... A dangerous precedent," said Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

Several Senate Republicans joined in the criticism, among them Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland, Lowell P. Weicker of Connecticut, Clifford P. Case of New Jersey and Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania.

But some prominent Democrats, notably Sens. John C. Stennis and James O. Eastland of Mississippi, said Ford took the correct action. And leading Republicans rallied to his defense.

"It was a courageous decision," said Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott.

"... It was the only decent and prudent course to follow," said Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

'I Was Wrong'... Nixon

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon, newly immune from Watergate prosecution, admits he made "mistakes and misjudgments" in handling the scandal.

"That the way I tried to deal with Watergate was the wrong way is a burden I shall bear for every day of the life that is left to me," Nixon said Sunday of the scandal that shadowed his administration for two years and led to his resignation.

The former chief executive made his remarks in a statement released less than 10 minutes after President Ford announced he had granted Nixon full pardon for any offense he may have committed in the White House.

"In accepting this pardon, I hope that his compassionate act will contribute to lifting the burden of Watergate from our country," Nixon said.

"Looking back on what is still in my mind a complex and confusing maze of events, decisions, pressures and personalities, one thing I can see more clearly now is that I was wrong in not acting more decisively and more forthrightly in dealing with Watergate, particularly when it grew from a political scandal into a national tragedy.

"I know that many fair-minded people believe that my motivations and actions in the Watergate affair were intentionally self-serving and illegal. I now understand how my own mistakes and misjudgments have contributed to that belief and seemed to support it. That burden is the heaviest one of all to bear," he said.

Nixon said "here in California, my perspective on Watergate is quite different than it was while I was embattled in the midst of the controversy, and while I was still subject to the unrelenting daily demands of the presidency itself."

"No words can describe the depths of my regret and pain at the anguish my mistakes over Watergate have caused the nation and the presidency — a nation I so deeply love and an institution I so greatly respect."

Meanwhile it was learned that it was a process shrouded in secrecy, 10 days of deliberations and negotiations that spanned the continent.

It ended when President Ford signed with a felt-tipped pen a proclamation pardoning Richard M. Nixon "for all offenses against the United States" during the 5½ years of his presidency.

Ford had set the pardon machinery in motion on Aug. 30 when he asked White House counsel Philip Buchen to determine the answers to two questions: Was there any precedent for granting pardon in advance of any indictment or conviction; and how long would a criminal proceedings against Nixon continue?

Buchen worked through the Labor Day weekend, researching the law on the precedent question and conferring with Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski about the duration of any proceedings.

Jaworski, who directed the grand jury that already had named Nixon as an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up, responded with a memo suggesting that jury selection in any Nixon trial, assuming the grand jury eventually indicted the former president, would be delayed for "nine months to a year and perhaps longer" because of unprecedented publicity in the case.

The memo was sent to Ford, who never talked directly to Jaworski, according to Buchen. Jaworski said later he was not consulted specifically about the pardon decision.

Just two days before Ford ordered Buchen to gear up the pardon machinery, the President had told his first White House news conference that while he shared "the general view and point of view of the American people" that Nixon be spared prosecution, he had

Credibility Tarnished, Press Secretary Resigns

JERARD F. terHORST

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst has resigned abruptly, saying his credibility as spokesman for President Ford was irrevocably tarnished in the pardoning of Richard M. Nixon.

"The President acted in good conscience and I also found it necessary to resign in good conscience," terHorst said later. He told Ford he was quitting shortly before the President announced the pardon Sunday.

terHorst will be succeeded at least temporarily by John W. Hushen, who becomes acting press secretary. Hushen, 38, who had been top spokesman at the Justice Department for four years, joined the White House press office three weeks ago as deputy to terHorst.

Hushen, like terHorst a former Detroit News reporter, said he did not disagree with Ford on the pardon. He said, "I personally think he did the right thing."

terHorst, 52, a veteran Washington newsman whose career has been intertwined with Ford's off and on since 1948, was not consulted about the pardon. White House sources said he learned of it Saturday when it came time to prepare for a public announcement of Ford's surprise decision.

terHorst said he did not use threats of his resignation in any effort to dissuade Ford.

In a telephone interview from his Alexandria, Va., home, terHorst said his conscience told him it was unfair for Nixon to be pardoned while his former subordinates continue to be prosecuted for Watergate-related crimes.

"Mercy, like justice, must also be even-handed," terHorst said.

Some Watergate figures already in jail, others are under indictment and "their reputations and families also have been injured," he said.

"I knew my credibility would be difficult to sustain... in the absence of a like decision to grant mercy to persons of lesser stations in life," terHorst said.

Ford issued a statement saying "I appreciate the fact that good people will differ with me on this very difficult decision."

"I deeply regret, Jerry terHorst's resignation," Ford said. "I understand his position."

During his tenure as press secretary, terHorst won the praise of White House newsmen for speaking in simple declarative sentences and attempting to give reporters regular access to Ford's staff.

When Ford persuaded terHorst to turn in his press card and become at least an interim press secretary, the Grand Rapids, Mich., native was while he shared "the general view and point of view of the American people" that Nixon be spared prosecution, he had

Emotional State Was Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford's decision to pardon former President Richard Nixon came as soon as it did because Ford was told any delay would damage Nixon's emotional state, the Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper attributed its information to "sources close to the situation," and said at least two of Nixon's friends had "communicated to President Ford their belief that the former president was so emotionally depressed that he would have been unable to withstand prolonged indecision."

The Post said Nixon knew of Ford's intention to grant him a pardon at least since last Thursday.

Another reason for the quick decision, the Post reported, was that Ford made a political mistake in announcing he would wait for the legal process to finish before deciding.

Long-time Nixon friend Robert H. Finch was quoted as saying, "If he (Ford) was going to do it, this was the time to bite the bullet. The President would be subject to far more criticism after the attorney had gone through the arduous work of preparing a case and seeking an indictment."

Persons who have talked to the former president have painted a conflicting picture of Nixon's health.

Finch said that C.G. (Bebe) Rebozo and Robert A. Altman, two close Nixon friends who visited the San Clemente estate shortly after the Aug. 9 resignation, reportedly were concerned about Nixon's health after meeting with him.

Finch emphasized this report had come to him second hand, but said he had heard there was an effort being made to point up Nixon's condition to help obtain concessions for him in any future legal battles.

However, other persons who have met and talked to Nixon say he is in good condition, mentally and physically.

Donald Nixon, who said he saw his brother about 10 days ago, said Nixon had been in "good health and good spirits." He said his brother "looked very good, was tan, busy and said that he had a lot of things to wind up."

"These reports that he is in ill health are a figment of somebody's imagination," said insurance tycoon W. Clement Stone Sunday night after a three-hour telephone conversation with Nixon which took place before the pardon was announced. "He was thinking very clearly. He was able to laugh off a joke. The man's in excellent health."

Meanwhile Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who had no private say in President Ford's decision to pardon Richard M. Nixon of any and all Watergate crimes, today refused to say anything about it publicly.

Shortly after Ford's dramatic announcement Sunday, White House lawyers said that Jaworski had informed them about the case being built against Nixon, but had "no voice" in the pardon decision.

Though one newspaper did reach Jaworski for comment Sunday night, a spokesman for the prosecutor said this morning there would be no further statements due to the upcoming Sept. 30 cover-up trial of six former high Nixon aides.

"In view of the approaching trial... and the order of the court regarding pretrial publicity entered March 1, the special prosecutor will not discuss the subject of the pardon granted former President Nixon," the Jaworski spokesman said. "There will be no further comment on that subject from this office."

The Area Reaction: Many Dismayed

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON

President Gerald R. Ford's decision to grant Richard M. Nixon "a full, free and absolute pardon" apparently doesn't sit well with a majority of local residents.

A random poll taken at several locations in Kingston and the Town of Ulster early today revealed widespread dismay at the President's decision. A few persons interviewed applauded the Presidential pardon, indicating their belief that the former president has suffered enough for his role in the Watergate scandal, but even more expressed sentiments of dismay and indignation over the announcement that renders Nixon immune to virtually all future criminal prosecution.

"I suppose people will say that Nixon has suffered enough," commented Robert VanEtter of Ulster Park, "but a pardon doesn't make sense unless there's an admission of guilt, and Nixon still hasn't admitted that what he did was criminally wrong."

But a companion, Edward Krum, added, "Everyone knows he broke the law. There's no need for admission of guilt. Can you imagine a former President of the United States in jail? I don't think this country is ready for that."

Few were more outspoken than Carl Martin, a resident of the Glasco Turnpike in Woodstock, "I knew all along Ford was an idiot, and now he's proved it," said Martin. "I think they made a deal before Nixon resigned."

No one else, however, voiced similar suspicions, although several found the Nixon pardon and Ford's proposal of amnesty for draft dodgers more than just mere coincidence.

"The president couldn't grant amnesty to Nixon without giving amnesty to the draft dodgers, and he couldn't let the draft dodgers come home without pardoning Nixon," offered William Boice of Kingston, "All in all, I'd say it's a fair trade. It sure is a smart move politically," Boice added. "I wonder if Nixon will have to serve two years of alternative service."

Kingston resident Wayne Bruck added, "I suppose if we give the draft dodgers amnesty, then we can give a former president amnesty, too. I guess I feel sorry for Nixon. It must be tough on him now. But I can't forgive and forget yet."

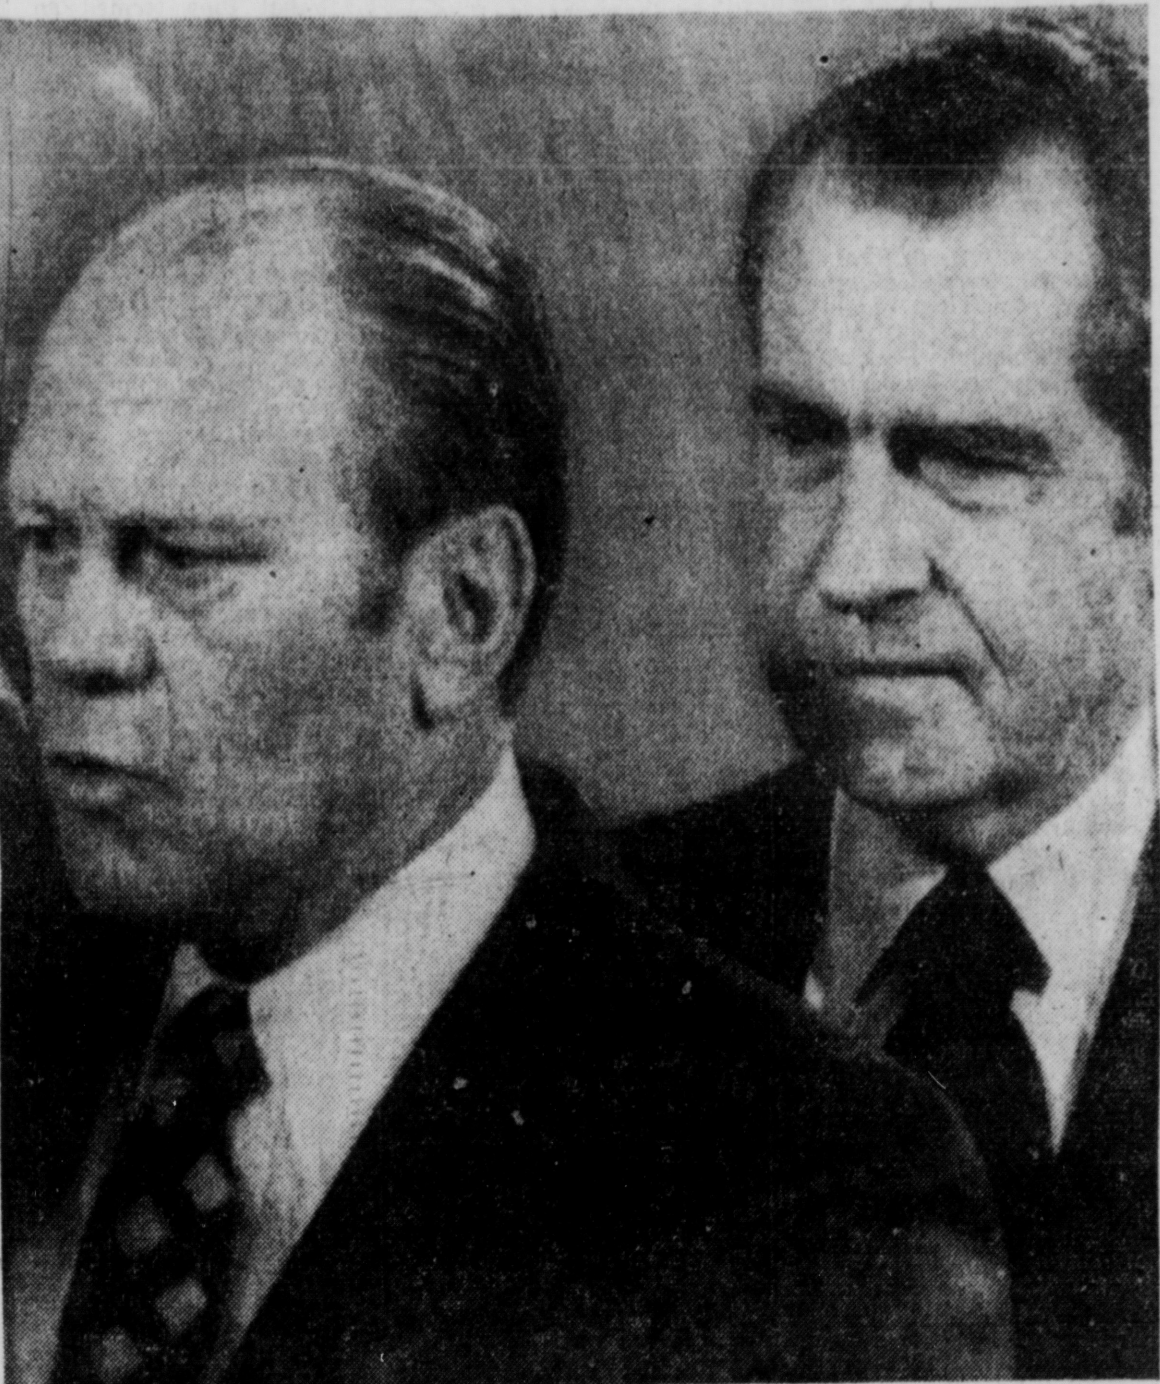

"It was nice not hearing about Watergate for the past month," commented John Gardner of Catskill, "Now I suppose the controversy will start all over again. I'm not surprised at the pardon. Nixon never could have gotten a fair trial."

"I was shocked when I heard," said Mrs. Joan Beale of Lucas Avenue in Kingston, "I wouldn't want to see him go to prison, but he shouldn't have been pardoned."

"It was just a matter of time," bristled Severine Pokorny of Ellenville, "who gives a damn?"

Asked if he thought the House and Senate should resume impeachment proceedings against the former president, James Robinson of Albany Avenue, Kingston, replied, "I sure do. I can just see him running for Congress in a few years. He already has his son-in-law (David Eisenhower) out campaigning for him. I think the pardon is even more disgusting than Watergate."

Dorothy Trandle added, "I was upset when I first heard, now I don't know. I just hate to see him get off scot free."

MIDWAY IN THE DRAMA—Former President Nixon looks on as Gerald R. Ford is sworn in as vice president on Dec. 6, 1973. Last October Vice President Spiro T. Agnew resigned and last Aug. 8 Nixon himself resigned. Two years ago, the Nixon-Agnew team carried 49 of the 50 states. (UPI Telephoto)

SAUGERTIES GOP PICNIC — Despite forecasts to the contrary, Sunday turned out to be warm and sunny and Saugerties Republicans took full advantage of it. The annual GOP picnic attracted several hundred persons with a host of candidates. No Permanent Damage

KINGSTON The trees are not dead, although there may be some minor damage, said city officials today. They were backed up by officials from the County Home Extension Service who inspected trees on Broadway and East Chester Street on Friday.

The mayor also produced statements from an official with the University of Pennsylvania Department of Forestry who said the Jackson machine was in Harrisburg six weeks ago and did no permanent damage.

The assistant commissioner of public works in Chicago was reached by phone and he said the Jackson machine did no damage during the last five years over some 175 miles of streets.

A letter was produced from the Jackson firm's insurance company that stated during the past 15 years there had never been a claim for permanent damage to a tree although the company allowed there had been some complaints.

Cole insisted, from an economic viewpoint, that the machine did the job for "one-third" the cost of standard pavement removal.

There were some concessions, however. City officials admitted they weren't concerned about the trees previous to letting the contract because "we just didn't know." The Jackson people said they were aware of the possibility of the browning of the trees but since it had never been permanent they didn't bother to mention it to city officials. They apologized for what they termed an "oversight" on their part.

The machine will nonetheless be equipped with shields and defusing equipment when it goes on Albany Avenue this week.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig held a press conference today to assure city residents that trees along Broadway, East Chester Street and most of all Albany Avenue, are in no danger of permanent damage from the pavement melting Jim Jackson road planer.

Koenig's office at city hall was packed with members of the press corps, representatives from the Jim Jackson firm, Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein, Public Works Superintendent Charles J. Cole, Peter J. Mancuso (D-12th Ward) and Common Council majority leader.

Although Koenig and Mancuso minimized the amount of public concern — Koenig said he received no more than five telephone calls and Mancuso said no one in the Common Council received a call — there was something of an outcry when the Jackson machine finished planing Broadway leaving in its wake trees that looked badly damaged.

More Opposition To Increasing Legislator Term

KINGSTON year term is too short to enable particularly first term legislators, to become familiar with their responsibilities, Scala said that "conceding the fact that the last three elections have brought more than 25 per cent new faces to the legislature in each election, the overlooked fact is that many of these legislators have had previous experience serving on their respective town boards and the old Boards of Supervisors.

Scala feels that any new legislative member could familiarize himself with Ulster County government by reviewing printed proceedings of monthly meetings, committee reports, communications, annual reports from department heads, election results and the entire Ulster County budget.

The Saugerties legislator contends that electing all 33 legislators at the same time every four years "could be extremely dangerous" in that if all incumbents were defeated in the same election, there would be no continuity of government.

He said he has voted three times against the proposal and urges voters to go to the polls and do the same.

The Ulster County Conservative Party Chairman William Jackson said it has been argued that the legislators use too much of their time campaigning every two years, but "we do not think that meeting the voters every two years is excessive."

Kirschner called the issue "too important to ignore" and urged registered voters, regardless of party affiliation to go to the polls between noon and 9 p.m.

He points out that the Ulster County Legislature "is not" solidly behind the four-year term.

Scala, analyzing the accomplishments of legislators between 1970 and 1973 points out that:

- More resolutions were introduced in the election years of 1971 and 1973 than in non-election years of 1970 and 1972.
- There were 20 per cent more resolutions introduced in the four months (July through October) prior to Election Day.
- Thirty-five per cent more individual resolutions (not the result of committee activity) were introduced during the same four-month period.

"It appears that there is more activity rather than less in election years," Scala said.

Regarding the proponents' contention that the present two-years is excessive.

Primaries May Give Clue to Reaction of Nixon Pardon

By United Press International

Politicians will be watching the turnout in Tuesday's primary election contests for statewide Democratic nominations for clues to voter reaction to President Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon.

According to several sources, a less than 900,000 vote from enrolled Democrats as they select candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, U.S. senator and two associate judgeships of the State Court of Appeals would indicate voter apathy probably traceable to the political scandals.

Earlier predictions indicated that between 900,000 and 1,025,000 enrolled Democrats would participate in the primary. Far fewer Republicans are expected to go to the polls to select various congressional, state senatorial, Assembly and local office party nominees.

In New York City, the polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. and elsewhere in the state the voting hours are from noon to 9 p.m. The weather forecast calls for mostly cloudy weather and a chance of showers.

For governor, the Democrats will choose between Howard J. Samuels, 54, a millionaire businessman and former head of the New York City Off-Track Betting Corp., and Rep. Hugh L. Carey, 55, a 14-year congressman from Brooklyn. Samuels is the official designee of the party.

The lieutenant governor race matches Queens lawyer Mario Cuomo, the party designee, against State Sen. Mary Anne Krupask of Canajoharie and Manhattan Assemblyman Antonio Olivieri. If Ms. Krupask wins she would become the first woman to ever run for statewide office under a major party banner.

Rockland County District Attorney Robert Meehan is the party designee for attorney general but Bronx Borough President Robert Abrams is challenging for the nomination.

A three-way race for the U.S. Senate seat matches Syracuse Mayor Lee Alexander, the party designee, against former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark and millionaire builder Abraham Hirschfeld of Manhattan.

Vying for two associate judgeships on the Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal, are incumbent Associate Judge Harold Stevens, who already has the Republican nomination, Appellate Division Justice Lawrence Cooke of Monticello and Manhattan trial lawyer Jacob Fuchsberg, who ran as the Democratic nominee for the chief judgeship last year, losing to Charles D. Breitell.

The only Democratic candidate for statewide office who is not facing a primary challenge is incumbent Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a veteran of 20 years in the state's top fiscal post. He will run against Republican Stephen May, former mayor of Rochester, in the November general election.

Other Republican statewide candidates in the general election are incumbent Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Nassau County Executive Ralph Caso or lieutenant governor, incumbent attorney general Louis Lefkowitz, and Stevens and Appellate Division Justice Louis Greenblott for the associate judgeships on the Court of Appeals.

As might be expected, the race between Samuels and Carey has attracted the most attention although national developments such as Watergate and international affairs such as the war in Cyprus have crowded the primary election off television screens and front pages throughout most of the summer.

Both men are known as liberals, with Samuels claiming for the most part that a businesslike approach is needed to solve the state's problems without waiting for Washington to come to the aid of the state. Carey claims he could use his experience as a legislator to work with the national government for aid.

Finances have played a role, with Samuels noting that most of Carey's $2 million plus campaign war chest has come from the oil industry. Carey's brother, Edward, is president of the New England Petroleum Corp., a major supplier of fuel oil to utilities in the state.

Carey has noted that Samuels has received contributions from real estate interests which profited from leases negotiated with OTB while Samuels headed up the betting agency. Samuels has spent about $1.6 million on his campaign.

The two began attacking each other personally about three weeks ago but have become less acrimonious in the last several days, apparently heeding the advice of party professionals who have been cautioning against ripping the party apart before taking on the Republicans in the November general election.

The turnout prediction is based on the previous gubernatorial primary, when about 26.7 per cent of the enrolled Democrats selected former U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg by a narrow margin over Samuels to run against former Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who soundly trounced Goldberg in the general election.

This year, a total of 3,875,571 Democrats are eligible to vote. About 65 per cent of the Democratic vote is expected to come from New York City and 15 per cent from the counties of Suffolk, Nassau, Westchester, Rockland, Albany, Onondaga, Monroe and Erie. The other 49 counties in the state are expected to contribute only about 10 per cent of the Democratic primary vote.

Watergate Defense Lawyers Reshaping Strategies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense lawyers in the Watergate cover-up case are reshaping their strategies, hoping the unconditional pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon will turn the jury their way or even result in dismissal of charges.

At least one defendant, H. R. Haldeman, planned to make new efforts at delaying the six-man conspiracy trial, scheduled to begin Sept. 30.

President Ford's "free, full and absolute pardon" of Nixon, for all offenses he may have committed while President, does not extend to the numerous former Nixon lieutenants who already have pleaded guilty, been convicted or still face charges in Watergate and related cases.

One of Haldeman's lawyers, Frank J. Strickler, suggested it should.

"From what the President said, if you follow it logically, he could find grounds to do the same thing for Haldeman," Strickler said Sunday. "It's a logical extension. It seems to me something that might follow."

But he would not say whether an appeal will be made to Ford.

Although the grand jury named Nixon an indicted co-conspirator in the case, no charges had been brought against him. But Ford's counsel, Philip Buchen, said "I think it would be very likely that he would be indicted."

He said there were "lots of precedents" for pardons in advance of charges, citing one during the administration of Woodrow Wilson and others granted by Abraham Lincoln. "As far as I know, no thought has been given" to granting pardons to the cover-up defendants, Buchen said. They are, in addition to Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell, the trial, and numerous civil suits name him as a defendant.

Mardian and Kenneth W. Park-

Legal sources said that as a result of the pardon, Nixon will not be able to claim his constitutional right against self-incrimination because he can no longer be prosecuted for domestic advisor, as a witness at fraud, for example, but not any incriminating admissions.

Gov. Wilson Declines to Comment

By United Press International
Gov. Malcolm Wilson has declined to comment on President Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon, but numerous other politicians in New York State have been more than willing to offer their opinions.

The Republican governor, questioned Sunday in Niagara Falls where he was dedicating a library, said he would not comment on Ford's action either in his role as governor, as a candidate in the November election, or as an attorney.

"The President has the responsibility and it is not any part of the responsibility of the governor of New York," Wilson said.

He said that in his role as a candidate, "no event outside the State of New York and its government has any effect on our elections in the state."

When asked if he could comment as an attorney, about the legal ramifications of the decision, he said "it would be totally inappropriate to make any comment of the decision made by the President."

Wilson was asked to respond to statements made earlier by Democratic gubernatorial candidates Hugh L. Carey and Howard J. Samuels, but he would say only, "It's a free country."

When pushed for a response to the Samuels statement that the granting of the pardon established two systems of justice in America, Wilson said again, "it's the privilege and responsibility of the President of the United States to make his decision. It's not the business of the governor of New York."

Elsewhere in the state, many politicians in the state, there was dissatisfaction Sunday with Ford's action.

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said "President Ford's unconditional pardon of Richard Nixon is an outrageous miscarriage of justice and the worst cover-up of all."

"The American people have a right to know what he did and James Farley, postmaster general in the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration and a longtime Democratic leader, said he would "rather not work out the situation of former President Nixon and that he would not have acted so quickly."

"But the pardoning power is between the President and his conscience. Hence there is nothing further to be said or done about it except to press forward in the cases and with the reforms arising out of the would permit the courts to work out the situation of former President Nixon and that he would not have acted so quickly."

BIG THREE UP!

G.M., Ford, Chrysler Hike Prices.

UPHEAVEN — To keep up with rising costs in the price of steel, the Big Three auto manufacturers announced today that they will raise prices on new cars and trucks. This is G.M.'s second price rise since the end of the '73 model year. Chrysler has increased prices on its new cars and trucks. Ford has increased prices on its new cars and trucks. The increases range from $500 per vehicle to over $1,000 per vehicle. This is the third time in three months that the Big Three have raised prices.

Price and Chrysler, raising their prices a total of $1,000 and $400 respectively. Extraordinary increases — The auto industry has announced price increases to the point where it is now impossible to buy a new car or truck for less than $10,000. This is the first time in the history of the industry that the price of a new car or truck has exceeded $10,000.

No Four-Year Term

Primary elections are generally reserved for the party faithful in which enrolled Republicans or Democrats troop to the polls to select their standardbearers for the forthcoming elections. This will again be true tomorrow when candidates angling for congressional seats and those vying to represent the Hudson Valley at Albany will face the test of the primary.

However, this primary will also have something extra that is of vital interest to the voters of Ulster County. A general election will be held on the proposition of increasing the terms of the Ulster County legislators from two to four years. It must be understood that any eligible voter may cast a ballot on this issue, whether he is enrolled in any political party or is an independent.

It is felt in some quarters that the advocates of the four-year term proposal selected Primary Day for the vote rather than the general election in November in order to slip this very devious proposition past the electorate.

Why it is felt that a four-year term is beneficial simply cannot be fathomed. Certainly if our congressmen and assemblymen can do with a term consisting of two years, the same should be applicable to the county legislature. What is needed of our local legislators is for them to have a feel for the needs of the populace. It would seem evident that if they are entrenched and protected by a long term tenure they would not be serving the electorate, but mainly serving themselves.

A Primary Endorsement

And since we are in a Primary Day mood, the Freeman will make an exception to a long standing rule and endorse the candidacy of one contestant, simply because the qualifications of this candidate set him singularly apart.

Justice Lawrence H. Cooke of the Appellate Division is seeking to fill one of the vacancies on the Court of Appeals and is running in the Democratic primary. Justice Cooke, of Monticello, has proved through his many years on the bench that he possesses the judicial temperament that is necessary to such a high post. He has consistently exhibited during the course of his career a evenhanded and fair approach in the dispensing of justice and his continual intelligent interpretation of the law has won him the accolades of the state bar association and his peers on the bench. Justice Cooke is a wise choice for Democratic voters.

No Lightweights

Karin E. Zimmermann of Santa Monica, Calif., zeroed in on an important bit of semantics in a recent letter to the editor of a metropolitan newspaper. To point up her views we quote her letter in full:

"It was interesting to me that on the same day you reported President Ford's endorsement of the Equal Rights Amendment you also stated in a headline that the First Lady and Mrs. Rockefeller had met for 'girl talk.' The matter concerns me because I, a woman, am very curious as to what their 'girl talk' was all about. Is this type of talk comparable to 'man talk'? (Perhaps I should have said 'boy talk.') And, while I'm at it, just what exactly is 'man talk'?"

These remarks aptly underscore the silliness of the assumption that when the wife of the President of the United States and the wife of his vice president designate got together their conversation consisted of "girl talk." As though two grown women, wives of two of the most influential men in America, could think of nothing more cogent to discuss than, perhaps, the color of the drapes in the East Room, or whether to serve domestic or imported wines at state dinners.

Neither Mrs. Ford nor Mrs. Rockefeller can be dismissed as a lightweight interested only in the frills and furbelows of life. To imply anything of the sort demeans them, we think, and by indirection demeans other women as well.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Ford has secretly instructed U.S. Ambassador William Macomber to warn the Turkish government that the United States may withhold economic aid if Turkey refuses to cooperate on opium controls.

The revival of the Turkish opium trade could be a serious blow to U.S. efforts to curtail heroin smuggling, which has helped aggravate the crime wave in American cities. For most of the heroin, sold on the streets by drug pushers, used to come from Turkish opium.

Under a 1972 agreement, the United States paid Turkey $35.7 million to ban opium production. This has reduced the availability of heroin in the United States.

But last June, the Turks announced they would resume opium production. Former President Nixon ignored repeated requests from Congress that he pressure the Turks to uphold the opium ban. Not long after President Ford moved into the White House, however, he sent the first blunt signal to Ankara. On August 30, he fired off a secret cable to Macomber, directing him to tell the Turks that the United States would help them monitor their opium crop but might shut off economic aid if they didn't cooperate in controlling the heroin traffic.

Three days later, Macomber sent back a pessimistic report on the progress of a United Nations narcotics team in Turkey. His "discussions with team," he cabled, "reveal gloomy picture."

"Turkish officials say they intend to concentrate acreage as far as possible to facilitate control but plans they have in mind do not appear consistent with such approach," Macomber reported tersely.

His confidential cable noted "that head of narcotics police is developing arrangements for patrolling fields during critical period and that these proposed arrangements seem encouraging on paper." But the cable questioned "how these measures will work out in practice."

International Narcotics Control Board Chairman Sir Harry Greenfield, who met with U.S. officials in Turkey last week, "is not optimistic that Turks can be persuaded to reduce acreage."

"Turks claim they have already sold 30 tons of opium from first harvest," added Macomber, "and have to date received inquiries from other prospective buyers for up to 100 tons."

Greenfield has sought a meeting, meanwhile, with Turkey's President Bulent Ecevit. "But foreign ministry officials have made clear," according to the cable, "this request unlikely to be granted."

It looks as if the Turks intend to call President Ford's bluff. If he backs down, the flow of heroin into the United States surely will rise and will bring with it a new surge of crime. But if the United States cuts off economic aid to Turkey, the Turks may follow the Greek example and pull out of NATO, leaving the Western alliance dangerously exposed in the Mediterranean.

Footnote: In fairness to the Turks, they have tried in vain to persuade the United States to sign a U.N. agreement controlling the distribution of pep pills, goof balls and hallucinogens. Drug enforcement officials estimate that half of the 16 billion drug pills that the United States produces each year wind up in the underworld. The United States cannot sign the U.N. agreement without enabling legislation, which the drug industry has opposed.

SAMUELS FAVORED: Jimmy the Greek Snyder, who calculates the political odds exclusively for us, rates Howard Samuels a four-to-one favorite over Rep. Hugh Carey in tomorrow's New York Democratic primary.

The two are battling for the right to run against Gov. Malcolm Wilson in November. Jimmy bases his odds upon his own private poll, interviews with political experts and a touch of Las Vegas magic. His poll of 700 New York voters gave Samuels 351 and Carey 299, with 50 undecided.

Jimmy expects a poor turnout at the polls, which he believes will also favor Samuels who has a stronger statewide organization. Spiro Agnew's good friend, singer Frank Sinatra, has apparently adopted George Wallace as the new object of his political affection. Just one month after Sinatra's pal Agnew resigned the vice presidency last October, the crooner donated $500 to Wallace's presidential campaign committee.

The President's Air Quality Advisory Board seems strangely unconcerned about the dangers of deadly lead in the air, particularly in high-exhaust ghetto areas. The board turned down a suggestion from Louis Lombardo, head of the Public Interest Campaign, that it solicit briefing memos on the problem from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Meanwhile, Public Health Service figures New Orleans and show alarmingly high lead concentrations in the blood of ghetto children in Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee, Philadelphia.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ford Warns Turkey About Opium

By ROWLAND EVANS

and ROBERT NOVAK WASHINGTON — The principal source of the Republican right's noisy mini-rebellion against President Ford is exposed by this backroom political fact: California Gov. Ronald Reagan's aides were telephoning conservative Republican leaders with remarks critical of the President within days after he took office.

Indeed, much anti-Ford talk by conservatives is traceable, directly or indirectly, to Sacramento. The sharpest critics want not only to shove Mr. Ford rightward but are desperate to breathe life into Reagan's expiring presidential hopes for 1976. Anti-Ford sentiment comes less from the party's mainstream conservative majority than from a fringe of hardcore Reaganites.

President Ford recognizes it as such. Resisting pressure for gestures to the right, he is confident of long-term conservative Republican support if he achieves his major goal: significant budget reduction.

Mr. Ford's difficulties with Reagan began after he became President and, thereby, a menace to the governor's 1976 last hurrah for President. Reagan was unaccountably absent during nearly all of Mr. Ford's many vice-presidential campaign trips to California. Although Ford aides claim Reagan was among the six finalists for Vice President, the reality that the governor never had a chance is appreciated — and resented — in Sacramento.

Thus, once Nelson Rockefeller was designated as Vice President, Reagan's operatives were telephoning to commiserate with fellow conservatives about the new President's leftward drift. That was quickly followed by Reagan's remarkable performance during his speaking engagement recently on Maryland's eastern shore for Rep. Robert Bauman, a tough young conservative who is most unhappy with the Ford presidency so far.

Although Bauman's rally was held only an hour's auto ride from the White House, Reagan paid no courtesy call on the highly accessible new President. "I don't understand him being this close and not even saying hello," one top Ford aide told us.

In contrast to his steadfast defense of President Nixon, Reagan in Maryland was short on explicit praise for President Ford and long on implicit criticism (attacking Ford-endorsed health insurance, for example). When Reagan talked about the "conservative mandate" in the 1972 election, he echoed the theme stressed by the right-wing weekly, Human Events, in its relentless anti-Ford editorials.

Simultaneously, conservative theoretician Kevin Phillips, in his political newsletter, suggested a third party nominating Reagan in 1976 — a threat muttered by several conservatives in the House Republican cloakroom before the summer recess.

Such scare talk is not entirely a bluff intended to pressure Mr. Ford. The most dedicated House conservatives, such as Bauman and Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio, believe that prestigious Senators — Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, John Tower of Texas — abdicated conservative leadership by not pressing to block the Rockefeller nomination. The House conservatives now look to Reagan and have not abandoned 1976 presidential hopes for him, either as a Republican or an independent.

This sentiment is largely limited to Ashbrook-Bauman type conservatives — who long ago grew disenchanted with Nixon — rather than the much larger Nixon hardcore.

Even among overwhelmingly conservative Southern Republican state chairmen, anti-Ford sentiment is noisier than it is broad. Nor is it faintly comparable to 1969 anti-Nixon passion there caused by school desegregation activity.

Mr. Ford has been sniped at by Florida's volatile state chairman, L. E. (Tommy) Thomas. But the real power among the Southerners remains Clarke Reed of Mississippi, who feels Rockefeller's nomination breaks the vice-presidential succession and makes it possible to nominate the best conservative for President in 1980.

Mr. Ford's congressional liaison staff similarly has advised him that the right-wing rebellion is narrowly based. Consequently, the President is not inclined to conservative appeasement gimmicks being suggested (such as moving up the date for permitting personal gold purchases) and intends to stick to basics: overall budget cuts and strong national defense.

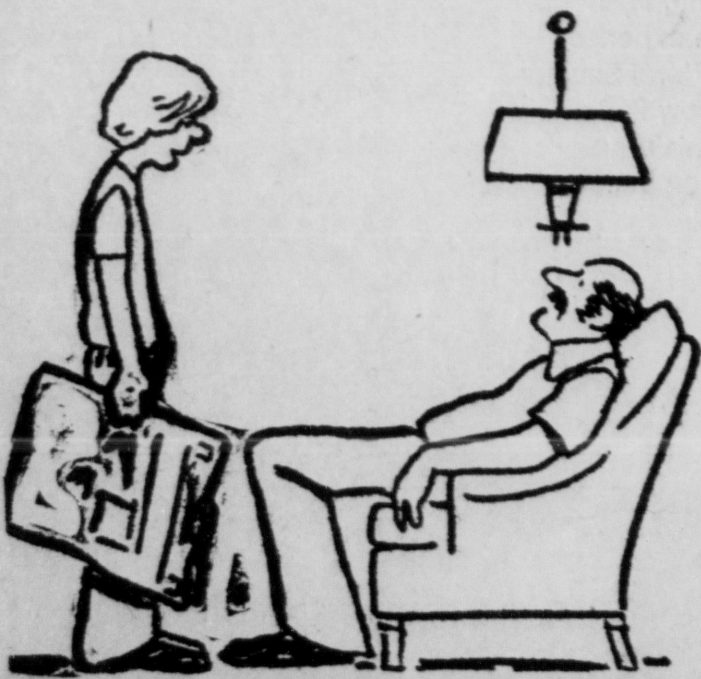

Mr. Ford, therefore, could reverse the performance of his predecessor. Whereas President Nixon made cosmetic concessions to the right while failing to control federal spending, President Ford intends to move leftward cosmetically while truly cutting the budget. If he succeeds, the Reagan rebellion will soon be forgotten.

Put Here to Make People Laugh

"I told them Jorge Lebron is playing professional baseball, so let's have a little more respect for fourteen-year-olds around here!"

There never was a guy like Charlie Butterworth. He had a face like a bereaved horse. His attitude, even when affronted, was whispered obsequiousness. Butterworth, as a comedian, could fumble with the brim of a hat for two reels while trying to tell an irate executive that the building was burning down.

He was a big name in lights on Broadway when Bob Hope was still looking for the way out of Cleveland and Danny Thomas was living over a grocery store in Toledo. And yet, in spite of Charlie's great record as a hilarious "sap," I don't ever recall his name in the top row of marquee lights.

Offstage, he was addicted to sad one-line observations. Like the time he was in New Orleans and he stood watching a jazz cornet player being buried. The black women were sobbing as though they missed that cheating man. The band was in slow step, playing, "I'll Be Glad When You're Dead You Rascal You."

Butterworth shook his head. "Sure takes the edge off a dying," he said. He saved his money as W.C. Fields did, stashing it in many banks, none of which he trusted. If he had a woman, she was as casual as last year's bedroom slippers.

Charlie's love, an affection which was not reciprocated, was booze. To my knowledge, he would not drink when a show was in rehearsal, nor while it enjoyed a run. But Butterworth and the final curtain usually came down together.

When I was in my more balmy years, I would see him roll up to the Peninsula House in a small car with a black canvas top. The Peninsula House was a huge wooden hotel on the sands at Sea Bright, N.J. It had two wings with a third in the middle. It looked like the start of a crooked game of dominoes.

The hotel help bowed to Mr. Butterworth, but he could outbow them. With a flirt of his hand, he would direct them to his luggage. It consisted of a small bag of underwear and shirts, and three heavy cases of liquor. The manager tried to give the great comedian a suite facing the sea, but Charlie preferred a small room facing Ocean Avenue.

It sounds modest, but it wasn't. The Jersey Central Railroad ran down the middle of Ocean Avenue, and the engineers blew shrill steam whistles for all the crossings.

Mr. B. used the railroad as an alarm clock to prevent being overtaken by sudden sobriety. He bolted the door, jammed a chair under the knob and placed a mattress on the floor. This was intelligent because he could not fall far, and he had only to reach for the next bottle.

What devils or gorgeous fantasies he solicited, I never inquired. Sometimes he ran dry in 10 days, sometimes in two weeks. If he had medical assistance to still the quivering chin, the trembling hands, the solitary remorse, it was done secretly.

He was a cheapskate, but he tipped lavishly on the way out. Mr. Butterworth got into the little car with the canvas top and left with the soiled underwear. His good friend (and mine), Walter O'Keefe, begged Charlie to get an automobile with a hard top. He listened politely and at great length, and said no.

One evening he left The Lambs, floating eastward on 44th Street, when the hot sidewalk bounced up and smashed him hard. The cops turned him over and one said, "We can't have this great man make a public spectacle of himself," so they did as Irish cops are wont to do. They dragged him to a nearby convent and gave him to the Sisters of Charity.

They talked; they listened; they prayed him through it. One elderly nun came in every morning to listen to his jokes. "I'm afraid," he croaked, "that I will never be funny again, Sister." She giggled. "You'll always be funny," she said. "God put you here to make people laugh."

Morning after morning, she listened to his whispered jests, clasped her chest, and laughed uproariously. When he was ready to leave, he said, "What's your name?" "Sister Consuela Marie," she said. Butterworth shook his head. "Strange," he said. "I never had a lady friend to speak of, but you are my true, my best friend."

"Ah," she said, "that's blarney. Be gone and be sober." He left. Years later, Walter O'Keefe was still trying to tout Charlie off the cars with the canvas tops. "If it turns over," O'Keefe said, "you'll kill yourself."

He did. Late one night, Mr. Charles Butterworth was driving along through Hollywood when he hit a tree. The car turned over. Charlie was dead. In the newspapers, it was a big one-day story.

Two years later, a lawyer appeared at the New York convent. He asked for Sister Consuela Marie. "There was a lot of probate trouble," he said to the old lady, "but Butterworth left it all to you in his will." In his hand was a check for $330,000...

I Was Wrong... Nixon

made no decision on the pardon possibility.

It is unclear what led Ford to change his mind so completely and so quickly. White House officials weren't saying.

However, some Ford aides say the President's concern grew about Nixon's health as reports circulated that the threat of prosecution was gradually eating away at the former President's peace of mind as he sought tranquility at his San Clemente, Calif. estate. In addition, there were suggestions that Ford had become concerned that action on a pardon might be more difficult and controversial if delayed.

Ford expressed concern about Nixon's health when he made his dramatic pardon announcement. One source said the White House was sufficiently disturbed about Nixon's health that former press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, with Nixon in San Clemente, was contacted last week and asked about Nixon's situation.

The source quoted Ziegler as saying there had been no change in Nixon's health. On the other hand, a man who has seen Nixon in the last four days described him as having aged considerably since his resignation. Whatever inspired Ford's decision, the execution was swift in coming.

Last Thursday, Ford tentatively decided to grant a pardon and he dispatched Washington attorney Benton Becker to San Clemente to relay the news.

Becker also was to complete negotiations for an agreement insuring access to Nixon's White House files during the next three years for possible use in Watergate prosecutions.

White House officials later insisted that the pardon was not connected with the agreement or with any statement of contrition on Nixon's part. But one official conceded that Ford knew "in a general way" what Nixon would say after the pardon was signed.

Becker, a partner in the law firm that handles Ford's personal legal work, flew to San Clemente Thursday night where he met with Herbert J. Miller Jr., another Washington lawyer, who recently was retained as Nixon's defense counsel.

Becker carried a draft of the pardon and, after first conferring with Ziegler, he met Friday with Nixon and showed him the draft. Becker later described Nixon as "friendly and courteous and thoughtful."

By Saturday, Ford had made a firm decision to grant pardon and he assigned his speech writers to begin work on the pardon proclamation. He also informed his press secretary, Jerald F. terHorst, to make arrangements for the Sunday announcement. TerHorst said word of the pardon was kept from him until Saturday.

On Sunday, 30 minutes before Ford made the pardon announcement, terHorst met privately with Ford, a long-time friend from Michigan, and told him he was resigning because of the pardon decision.

Premier Showing At Planetarium On Andromeda

NEW PALTZ
The Planetarium of the State University College at New Paltz will begin its 1974-75 schedule of showings with the Reign of Andromeda.

In this presentation, the Planetarium staff will examine the Constellation of Andromeda, the Ethiopian Princess, which is placed almost directly overhead during the mid-evening hours of autumn. The mythological relation Andromeda has with many of her neighboring constellations will be explored, and the celestial object she is most famous for, the Great Andromeda Galaxy, will be examined.

The presentation will be given Thursdays, Sept. 12, 19, 26, Oct. 3, 10, 17 at 7:30 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 19 at 2 p.m.; and Saturdays Sept. 14, 21, 28, Oct. 5, 12, 19 at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained in person at the College Bookstore and through the mail, except when a college I.D. is to be used; by sending, at least 10 days prior to showing date, a self-addressed stamped envelope and a check for the correct amount made payable to Planetarium Fund to Planetarium Tickets, College Bookstore, Student Union Building, State University College, New Paltz, N.Y. 12561.

The number of tickets, the requested showing date, and an alternate, should be included with the request. Tickets are $1, and children under age 5 are not admitted.

Sierra Club Topic
Eric Gilbert of the Dutchess County Planning Department will discuss details of the county's proposed purchase of the Children's Aid Society property at the Mid-Hudson Chapter Sierra Club meeting 8 p.m. Tuesday. The meeting will be held in Room 249, Campagnat Hall, Marist College. Discussion and refreshment will follow.

Wilson in London To Visit the Queen

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson flew back to London today from a weekend visit to Queen Elizabeth in Scotland, and British newspapers said he informed her he will call new British elections for Oct. 10.

Wilson has not announced the date, but newspapers were unanimous that he had decided on Oct. 10. If so, he must announce his choice no later than Sept. 20.

Wilson has headed a minority government since the last elections on Feb. 28 failed to give him a majority in the House of Commons. This time he hoped to win a new five-year mandate with a strong majority.

Without announcing a date, Wilson told the annual convention of the 10-million member Trades Union Congress at Brighton Thursday that he will order an election "within weeks."

With election fever growing, the small, third ranking Liberal party published its own program for beating inflation — the issue which political commentators agreed will dominate the election campaign.

The Liberal party document came out strongly in favor of legally enforceable curbs on both wages and prices — something flatly rejected last week by the Trades Union Congress as well as by Wilson himself.

The Liberals also called for special punitive taxes on businesses which push prices unreasonably high and on workers who win excessive pay hikes.

Troop Reinforcements Ordered by Portugal

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — The Portuguese government today ordered troop reinforcements to move toward this capital where white rebels set up a headquarters and took over the airport, radio station and postal center.

The South African Press Association, meanwhile, reported that Portuguese soldiers fired over the heads of a crowd in the seaport of Beira in a clash with whites opposing a transfer of power to the black majority.

The Beira report was the first direct clash between soldiers and the white rebels who reportedly are trying to declare Mozambique independent with a white government in control, as Rhodesia did in 1965.

Most of the estimated 60,000 strong Portuguese army in Mozambique is concentrated in the northern part of the territory where it fought a 12-year-old guerrilla war. Lourenco Marques, the capital, is in the far south less than an hour from the South African border by car.

The Lisbon government over the weekend ordered the army to put down the white rebellion and restore order so that the independence agreement signed last week with Frelimo, the African guerrilla movement, can be implemented.

Portuguese Premier Vasco dos Santos Goncalves said in Lisbon that the army had not gone into action in the Mozambique capital because the rebels in their takeovers were "using women and children as hostages."

The premier called the rebels a "small, desperate minority with no understanding of the evolution of history, interested only in their personal gain." A government statement warned that the leaders of the revolt would be punished for their "criminal acts."

A South African Press Association report from Beira said the soldiers drove several thousand persons from the main square and when they began milling back into the square the troops opened fire.

The agency quoted leaders of the whites as saying that one of the soldiers, an African, was shot and killed by his commanding officer when he refused to shoot over the crowd.

During the clash two hand grenades exploded in the crowd injuring an unknown number of persons, the agency said. Army officers said the soldiers did not carry grenades and blamed the explosions on civilian extremists.

Backlog of Warrants Cited in City

NEW YORK (UPI) — The State Investigation Commission (SIC) says police failure to make arrests and a "lack of attention" by the department when fugitives were apprehended for other crimes has left the city with some 130,000 unexecuted warrants, including thousands for outstanding criminal violations.

In a report released Sunday, the commission said that "since Feb. 8, 1971, when the warrant division was first established, the backlog of warrants in their possession has steadily increased."

In 1971, "there were 82,907 warrants of all types outstanding," the report said. "By August 1974, this total had swollen to approximately 130,000."

SIC Chairman Howard Shapiro said the backlog was a "direct result of the lack of attention given to this area by the police department."

The commission cited three reasons for the increase: Police made only cursory attempts to apprehend fugitives; inadequate administration in the warrant division and a lack of computer help in the division, which allowed fugitives to escape detection, even when they were arrested for other crimes.

The report said that "to the extent that fugitives are allowed to remain at large, the public incurs a substantial risk that these fugitives will commit new and additional crimes."

The SIC said "75 to 80 percent of all warrants that are cleared are cleared not through arrests by the police department on warrants but by the voluntary surrender of the fugitive, the cancellation of the warrant by the court or, most significantly, by the arrest of the fugitive for the commission of a new crime."

Israel Steps Up Raids
By United Press International
Israel has launched a "war of nerves" on its northern front, stepping up raids across the frontier against Palestinian guerrilla hideouts in southern Lebanon, it was reported today.

Military sources in Tel Aviv said recent attacks across the Lebanese frontier were part of a new drive against guerrilla groups using southern Lebanon for raids into Israel.

"These missions partially are search and destroy operations," a source said. "But it is also a war of nerves — to get on their nerves, not to give them a moment of peace, to keep them on the run and, of course, to keep them out of Israel."

In the latest incursion, Israel said a patrol poked into Lebanon near the border town of Zarit to check out "suspicious movements" but found nothing and returned to its base.

Israeli spokesmen in Tel Aviv declined to disclose the size of the unit and said it only went 200 yards inside Lebanon.

In Beirut, however, the Defense Ministry said about 100 Israeli soldiers penetrated a mile across the border, searched houses in the village of Marouahin and wounded one civilian in a clash with Lebanese troops. Israel said Arab gunners fired several mortar shells near Zarit Sunday, but failed to cause casualties or damages. The Tel Aviv command said Israeli cannons returned the fire.

DEMOCRATS

YOUR MOST IMPORTANT PRIMARY DAY VOTE ON TUESDAY, SEPT. 10, IS FOR THE FUTURE OF OUR PARTY!!

Dyson Says Democratic Charter 'Will Determine Party Direction'

A Democratic party charter to be adopted at the national convention in Kansas City "will determine the future direction of the Democratic party for the years ahead," John S. Dyson, Poughkeepsie Democratic Committee chairman, said today.

Dyson, chairman of the New York State Democratic Advisory Council is a candidate for delegate from the 28th Congressional District.

He noted that the Kansas City convention, expected to be attended by more than 2,000 delegates, will have the task of adopting the first official party constitution ever adopted in this country.

"The draft charter has been prepared by the Democratic Party Committee," Dyson said, noting that the commission was established by the 1972 national convention under the leadership of former Gov. Terry Sanford.

The basic purpose of the charter, said Dyson, is to provide a formal document to turn to when intra-party disputes arise.

"This should help," he said, "to decrease the internal strains within the Democratic party that have resulted in two controversial conventions in 1968 and 1972 and also in two unsuccessful candidates for the presidency..." Commenting on potentially divisive issues facing the Kansas City session, Dyson said, "There are vast differences of opinion concerning many of the details that should be included in the charter. It is clear that there are basically two views of what ought to be included in this charter. On one side are those who want a European-style ideological party that would set specific guidelines for all members of the party and all of the party's candidates to follow. On the other side are those who believe that each candidate of the Democratic party must be responsible to his local constituency and not follow some pre-set party line."

Dyson said his own position is that an attempt to force a given set of policies on all members and candidates of the Democratic party is an attempt to remove the ability of local voters to select people who represent their own points of view.

He said he will vote for those positions which will keep the party open to all who seek to join it or support its candidates.

BENEFIT FAIR is planned for September 21 and 22 at the Hyde Park Playhouse for the Hudson Valley Philharmonic. Among those working on arrangements are (l-r) Mrs. Jane

Morris-Perry Nuptials Held

Miss Noreen Anne Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Morris, Jr., of Schuler Lane, Lake Katrine, was united in marriage to Michael George Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Perry, 155 1/2 Lincoln Lane, Kingston, Sunday, September 1 at 2 p.m. The ceremony was performed at St. Catherine Labouree Church by the Rev. Msgr. James J. McNally. Mrs. James Sweeney was soloist for the wedding and Mr. Sweeney was organist. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose to wear a wedding gown styled in bouffant silhouette of tier-upon-tier chantilly lace. Attached to the skirt was a chapel length train. The gown had a high neckline and long fitted sleeves. Her headpiece of lace secured a chapel length mantilla veil bordered with chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath. Maria Drewes of Lake Katrine, honor attendant for the bride, wore a gown of white floral printed dotted swiss over peach silk lining. In Empire style, the gown was accented with ruffled lace at the V neckline, puffed short sleeves, and featured an apron effect drawn to the back with a dark green bow and long streamers. She wore a peach colored picture hat with green ribbon and carried daisy pompons and carnations with melon ribbon streamers. Bridesmaids were Francine Trippodo, sister of the bridegroom of Kingston; Barbara Hornbeck of Lake Katrine; Cathy Naccarato, cousin of the bride, of Kingston; Donna Morris, sister-in-law of the bride, of Woodstock; and Nora Haight, cousin of the bride, of Port Ewen. Doreen Nagy of Saugerties was junior bridesmaid and Kelly McCullough of Suffern was flower girl. All of the attendants' gowns were styled like the maid of honor's gown. The bridesmaids' and junior bridesmaids' gowns were made with mint green silk lining; their picture hats were mint green and they carried bouquets of mint green daisy pompons and carnations with matching streamers. The flower girl wore a peach gown with melon daisy pompons in her hair and carried a white basket of melon daisy pompons and carnations decorated with melon ribbons. Joseph Nagy of Olive Bridge was best man. Ushers were Ron Trippodo, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; William Morris, brother of the bride, of Woodstock; Jeff Morris, brother of the bride, of Lake Katrine; Sam Perry, brother of the bridegroom, of Kingston; and Bobby Fondino of Rub. Antony Sinagra, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. A reception was given at The Hedges, West Park. The bride was graduated from Kingston High School in June. The bridegroom was graduated from Kingston High School in 1969 and is a self-employed contractor. Mr. and Mrs. Perry will make their home at 15 West Chestnut Street, upon their return from a wedding trip to Florida.

Vows Are Exchanged Here

MRS. RONALD BLAIR GEHRIG (Barbara Gay Schrowang) (Jean Sardou Studio)

The Old Dutch Church was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Barbara Gay Schrowang to Ronald Blair Gehrig. The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool conducted the noon service written by the bride. A reception was given at the home of the bride's parents. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Schrowang, 273 Clinton Avenue. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Kate Mearns as maid of honor and Miss Kathleen Donahue as bridesmaid. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Robert Murphy of Canton, N.Y., and Norbert Gehrig of Dekalb Junction, N.Y. Best man was Daniel Albrow. Ushers were Edward and Robert Schrowang, twin brothers of the bride; William Belig, Sr., uncle of the bridegroom; and William Belig, Jr., cousin of the bridegroom. The bride is the granddaughter of Adelbert H. Chambers of this city and Augustus R. Schrowang, Sr., of Tallahassee, Fla. The bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Harry Belig of Elmira. Following a wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Gehrig will make their home at Sutton North Apartments in Poughkeepsie.

Bride Sees Ad for Gift Returned

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune—
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Chester and I were recently married. We received a lovely pewter bowl and matching candlesticks from Cindy and Paul, who are close friends. They came from Cindy's father's jewelry store and looked very expensive. Chester and I are furnishing our apartment in English country, but this gift is ultramodern and would never go with our decorating scheme. Rather than bury it in a cupboard, I called Cindy and told her the truth. She seemed to appreciate my frankness and said: "I will pick it up tomorrow."

She picked it up and seemed pleasant enough, but imagine how we felt when a few days later the following ad appeared in the local paper:

"Will sell at a sacrifice, returned wedding gift of Chester and Yvonne Douglas. Beautiful modern pewter bowl and matching candlesticks. Cost $70. Will sell for $35." Then the name of Cindy's father's jewelry store.

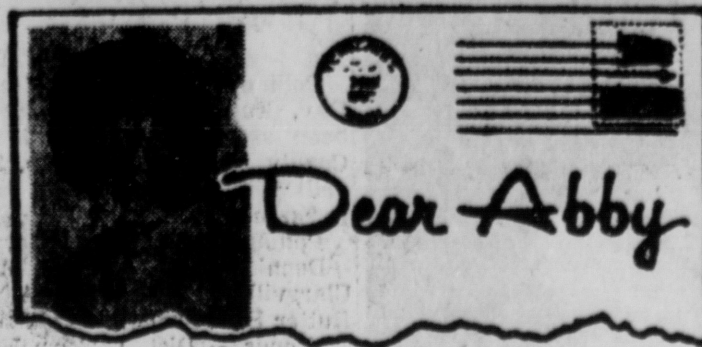

Chester and I are so humiliated, we can't hold our heads up. This Canadian city is buzzing.

Do you think we were wrong in being so candid about the gift? And what do you think of people who would do a thing like that?

MAPLE LEAF

DEAR READERS: Obviously you should not have been so candid with Cindy and Paul. They showed a shocking lack of taste in placing such an ad in the newspaper. Don't worry about the "talk." It will be about the tastelessness of your friends—not you!

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a 22-year-old man who refused to speak to—or even recognize—any member of his immediate family on his own wedding day?

When his aunt tried to congratulate him, he turned away, saying: "Don't get lipstick on me." (The only words he spoke to any of us all day!)

I was so disgusted that instead of going to the reception, I changed my clothes, went downtown and returned the wedding gift I had bought for the couple. But then, I am only his mother.

HURT

DEAR HURT: The bridegroom could have been understandably uptight, nervous or preoccupied. And you could have been understandably sensitive and emotional. This could have been a good time for charity and restraint on both your parts.

DEAR ABBY: I was happy the councilman in my area voted against those kooks who wanted to go around naked on the beaches near where I live.

What's the matter with people today, anyway? Are they trying to make a big nudist colony out of our country? Don't we have enough trouble without letting those perverts and sex maniacs take off their clothes and run naked?

How do you stand?

DISGUSTED IN VENICE, CALIF.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Clothed. But nudity has little to do with ummoral behavior.

There are nudist camps for entire families, and there is nothing "immoral" about them.

No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CLYDE B.: If you are the American sailor who has a mother in Alaska and a brother in Oklahoma, and are one-half Cherokee Indian, please write to me IF you want to hear from Jayn, that girl you met in Greece. She is looking for you.

UCCC Enrollment Up

STONE RIDGE There are still openings for the Fall Semester for both full-time and part-time students. Individuals interested in becoming full-time students should contact the College Admissions Office, while those wanting to take evening courses can register to-day through Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. at the Stone Ridge campus or the Life Long Learning Center at Coleman High School in Kingston.

The 2,275 students who have registered to date include 1,260 full-time students and 1,015 part-time students. This is 10 per cent greater than last fall's enrollment.

President Brown said the final Fall Semester enrollment figure for the College probably will exceed 3,000 when registration for credit-free courses is completed later in the semester.

Classes started last Thursday at Ulster County Community College with a total of 2,275 students enrolled in credit-bearing courses. "Although registration is still in progress, we already have exceeded our projections for this fall," College President Robert T. Brown indicated. "It is especially gratifying that our registration is so healthy at a time when many institutions are experiencing problems with enrollment. This is a tribute to our Board of Trustees, Faculty and staff, who have developed a superb setting for the educational process at Ulster County Community College."

Late registration now is underway at the College, and the final enrollment is expected to be even higher when it is completed this week.

"Schechter Makes Sense" FOR CONGRESS

The 27th C.D.—the "Southern Tier-Catskill" district Counties Broome, Chemung, Delaware, Sullivan, Tioga, Tompkins, Ulster.

Here's what they're saying about
Bill Schechter

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, 12/7/65
"You have my deep respect and affection for a job well done in my office . . . and for your integrity and dedication." (upon accepting Mr. Schechter's resignation.)

Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, 8/7/69
"It means so much to the children and to me to know that the causes and goals close to his (Robert Kennedy's) heart will be perpetuated by friends like you."

Theodore C. Sorensen, 4/30/74, former counsel to President John F. Kennedy
"Bill Schechter's work with Arthur Levitt, Bob Kennedy and John Burns has made him most familiar with the Southern Tier-Catskill district, its opportunities and its needs. He knows New York, he knows Washington, he knows the issues. His election can be important in combating the harsh effects on this area of the Nixon recession-inflation combination."

The "Yes" Bank comes to Kingston.

If you get Chemical No-Bounce Privilege Checking or a Chemical Master Charge at our new Kingston Branch, we'll say "Yes" to a free checking account and a free safe deposit box.*

Chemical Bank Hudson Valley, N.A. is pleased to announce the grand opening of a new branch in Kingston. We're so pleased, in fact, that we're giving away a free checking account and a free safe deposit box* for one year to every customer who applies for and receives Chemical No-Bounce Privilege Checking or a Chemical Master Charge card.

And we'll say "yes" to both No-Bounce Checking and a ChemBank Master Charge as long as you're over eighteen, steadily employed, earn at least a hundred dollars a week and won't be in over your head.

No-Bounce Checking. Chemical's No-Bounce Privilege Checking says "yes" when your checkbook says "no." So you can write checks for more than your balance. It's even a way to write yourself a loan.

And Chemical checking accounts include "simplified statements." So your checks come back in the order you write them.

ChemBank Master Charge. It's good for a "yes" at stores, restaurants and hotels anyplace. And you can borrow cash at any Master Charge bank, anywhere in the world.

Grand Sweepstakes. While you're at our branch opening celebration, be sure to fill out an entry blank for our Grand Sweepstakes. You could win five minutes of free shopping at the Waldbaum Supermarket in the Caldor's Shopping Center and take home up to $300 worth of groceries.

So stop in at our new branch and say hello to manager John Ledwith. Our celebration extends to Thursday, October 31. We're open 9 A.M. to 3 P.M., Monday through Thursday, with our drive-in window open 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. On Fridays, our hours are 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. and 5:30 P.M. to 7 P.M., with our drive-in window open from 9 A.M. to 7 P.M. During the opening celebration only, we have special Saturday hours on September 14, 21 and 28 from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, probing uncertainly for direction, edged slightly lower today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down about a point, and losers took a narrow lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the main topic of investors' attention continued to be the future course and degree of the Federal Reserve Board's monetary policy.

The latest consensus on Wall Street seemed to be that the Fed might well have eased off somewhat on its restrictive policy of the past several months, but that there was little chance of any major loosening up of credit.

Today's prices included Pittsburgh, down 1 at 25 1/2 AMP, up 3/4 at 29 3/4; Avco, up 1/4 at 4 1/4, and Atlantic Richfield, down 1 at 80.

In Friday's advance the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 7.12 to 677.88 to finish the week with a token net decline of .70.

President Gives Priority To Mass Transit Systems

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — President Ford said today that the energy crisis has made it clear that the nation must give high priority to building mass transit systems that people want to use.

But he said most Americans now consider public transportation "a painful last resort" and that "sitting bumper-to-bumper in traffic has become a way of life to many Americans."

"Until we develop systems that offer the convenience, comfort and reliability expected from our cars, transit service will continue to be under-used," the President said in a speech prepared for the Sixth

International Conference on Urban Transportation. And he said the development of new transit programs must be flexible enough "to match the diversity of our cities." The decisions can only be made locally, he said.

Ford said he was dedicated "to the revival of efficient transportation in our great urban centers."

While advocating prompt, "well-planned action" on urban transit, Ford said he considers the $11 billion federal Mass Transportation Act passed recently by the House "an absolute upper dollar limit" on spending over a six-year period.

He said he was convinced that with careful ordering of priorities, national transportation goals can be met "without further feeding the fires of inflation by busting the federal budget."

Federal funding for mass transit "simply must have realistic restraints" and investment in local transit systems "must have reasonable cost-benefit relationships," he said.

Greek, Turkish Leaders To Set Up POW Exchange

By United Press International

Leaders of the feuding Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus are soon expected to announce the start of mass prisoner exchanges.

United Nations sources on the embattled Mediterranean island said today.

The sources said Cypriot President Glafkos Clerides, an ethnic Greek, and Rauf Denk-tash, the island's nominal vice president and leader of the Turks, would make the announcement.

In their first formal meeting Friday on humanitarian issues, the two leaders agreed to swap prisoners and locate missing persons.

The U.N. sources said sick and aged prisoners as well as captive children would be the first to be released. Turkey has

Studies Law On Mining

SAWKILL

A local law that would control mining and quarrying activities in the Town of Kingston is presently under consideration by the town board.

Supervisor Kenneth Whispell said the town is in the process of formulating a local law that would control mining operations that are expected to move into the township in the years ahead.

He noted specifically that one mining firm has purchased a large tract of land in the Jockey Hill area of the town.

"We're not interested in prohibiting such activities," Whispell explained, "just in controlling them."

Among items that will be covered in the proposed local law, he noted, are controls regulating blasting operations and measures aimed at preventing the pollution of wells and water supplies. Whispell said a preliminary law has been drafted by the town's planning board, but he added that there are certain revisions that the town board wants to make. He said those revisions should be completed within the next week to 10 days, at which time specifics of the proposed law will be announced and a public hearing scheduled.

Die in Nursing Home Fire

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (UPI) —

Six elderly women and an 11-year-old boy died early today in a roaring nursing home fire that engulfed the one-story frame structure.

Firemen arriving within minutes of the alarm could only contain the blaze that shot flames more than 75 feet in the air at the Shildknecht private nursing home in a fashionable area of north St. Joseph.

The home was operated by Mr. and Mrs. William Shildknecht, fire officials said. The boy was identified as Randy Burton, a son of Mrs. Shildknecht by a previous marriage.

Shildknecht was not at home when the fire broke out. Mrs. Shildknecht and three other persons escaped and were treated at a local hospital for shock and smoke inhalation.

Fire Chief Cloyd Campbell said the dead women were all found lying on the floor in or near their rooms. He said there was little chance for escape because of limited access from rooms to hallways.

He said the structure was a converted house, with rooms partitioned to form accommodations for the patients.

A cause was not immediately established. Campbell said the state fire marshal would be called in if local authorities could not find a cause.

Central Hudson Is Recommended For Price Hikes

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — A

Public Service Commission examiner today recommended rate increases of $1.4 million for electricity and $2.7 million for gas for the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

The recommended boosts amount to 14.4 per cent in electric rates and 19.2 percent in gas rates. The company had asked for an increase of $12.2 million for electricity and $2.7 million for gas. Examiner Edward D. Cohen also recommended that the PSC reject Central Hudson's request for an interim rate increase while the agency considers its petition for the permanent boost.

The PSC staff, which presents a consumer-oriented case in all major rate proceedings, had recommended an electric-rate increase of $10.4 million and a gas-rate boost of $2.6 million.

Central Hudson provides electric service to about 188,000 customers and gas service to about 42,500 customers in the mid-Hudson Valley, in and around the cities of Beacon, Newburgh, Kingston and Poughkeepsie.

Loan Office Owner Shot By Burglars

POUGHKEEPSIE

The owner of the Poughkeepsie Loan Office, 394 Main Street, was wounded early today when burglars in the office fired shots at him and four police officers who were responding to an alarm. Poughkeepsie police said

Maurice Siless of Merry Hill Road, Poughkeepsie, was shot in the thigh as he and the police officers entered the office at about 2 a. m. Police returned fire, slightly wounding one of the alleged burglars, identified as Donald Strever, 21, of 228 Hill Street, Poughkeepsie. He was not hospitalized.

Police charged Strever with attempted murder, first degree assault, possession of a dangerous weapon and second degree burglary. Strever's companion, identified as James R. Sweeney, 23, of 31 Lewis Avenue, Poughkeepsie, was charged with second degree burglary and first degree assault.

Siless was listed in satisfactory condition at Vassar Brothers

Hospital. Strever and Sweeney were slated for arraignment in city court today.

Gallup Poll Shows Ford Over Kennedy

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) —

President Ford easily defeated Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-

Mass., in the first Gallup Poll trial run between the two men since Ford became President on Aug. 9.

In a survey of 1,590 registered voters conducted between

Aug. 16 and 19, 57 per cent chose Ford; 33 per cent

selected Kennedy, and 10 per cent were undecided.

In a trial heat held in May between the two men, Kennedy had a 50 to 39 per cent lead, with 11 per cent undecided.

According to Gallup, Kennedy is currently the top choice of Democrats for their party's nomination. The Massachusetts

senator has not made known his intentions regarding the 1976 race.

Scotty doesn't know how to drive yet ...but he's learning.

Whether he's learning the right way, or the wrong way, depends on you. His parent. You're his guide. All the way from toddling to driving.

When you get behind the wheel, he'll be watching—closely. So watch yourself. If you want him to be a safe driver, be sure you're a safe driver.

And when he's ready, high school driver education also can be an excellent teacher. Teenagers who take these classes average half as many traffic accidents and tickets as those who don't. That's why new car dealers encourage driver training...and save taxpayer dollars...by loaning more than 30,000 new cars each year to our schools for these classes.

One in a series presented by N.A.D.A., this newspaper, and the new car dealers of our community.

So check out the driver education course at your youngster's school. Or consider a qualified private driver training school. The important thing is to see that your children learn to drive the right way. By formal instruction. By any means possible.

A lot depends on it. Your kid's future as an adult. Your future as a grandparent.

NO. 103 — Cards' Lou Brock slides into second with his 103rd stolen base of the season as Met's Bud Harrelson tries to put the tag on him in the eighth inning Sunday. Mets' catcher Duffy Dyer made the throw to Harrelson. Brock tied Max Carey's National League stolen base record of 738 for his career and now stands one behind Maury Wills' one season mark of 104. (UPI)

Mike Wins on Two Counts

By United Press International — Mike Marshall had his integrity and pride put to the ultimate test Sunday and came out a winner on both counts. Marshall, the ace relief pitcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers, had his integrity tested by manager Walter Alton during a five-minute pregame meeting behind the locked doors of the Los Angeles clubhouse prior to the Dodgers' game with the Cincinnati Reds. It seems Marshall had been quoted in a local paper as saying the Cincinnati Reds were a bunch of "high school athletes." Alton, concerned that such statements might rile the Reds into playing even harder, wanted to know if Marshall had made the statement. Marshall called the statement "a lie" and that was good enough for Alton. Case closed. Marshall also got a chance to heal his pride, which had been severely wounded Saturday

BOSTON (UPI) — The 1927 Yankees they're not, but the Boston Red Sox are still a team to be reckoned with, according to Rico Petrocelli.

The Milwaukee Brewers found that out Sunday as they saw a 4-0 lead disappear in the middle innings while Dick Pole handcuffed them until Boston had built an 8-4 lead. The Red Sox eventually won the game 8-6 and moved back into a tie for first place in the American League East with the New York Yankees.

"Anyone who doesn't respect this team doesn't have any respect for anyone," said Petrocelli. "We've battled back all year, and we'll keep on battling until this thing is over."

The Red Sox host the Yankees in a Fenway Park showdown starting tonight, and the Yankees haven't won in Fenway all year.

"Doesn't matter," said Petrocelli. "We have to play baseball and fight. We're not the 1927 Yankees you know."

Pole has been shuttling between the Red Sox and Pawtucket, their International League affiliate, all season. He took over for a wild Juan Marichal with one out, bases loaded and two runs home in the first inning.

After giving up a two-run single to Tim Johnson, Pole settled down to pitch three-hit ball (all singles) until he tired in the eighth inning.

"They told me my hands were shaking when I grabbed the ball from Marichal," said Pole. "But I'm always nervous anyway. But this time I settled down. For the first time since I came here my curve was working, and along with the slider and fastball I was confident."

Boston started its comeback in the fourth after Juan Beniquez reached on an error. He went to third on a single by Carl Yastrzemski and scored on a fly ball by Cecil Cooper. The next inning started when Tim McCarver looped a single to right and went to second on a line single of Doug Griffin. A sacrifice bunt by Mario Guerrero moved the runners along. After Tommy Harper walked, McCarver scored on a long fly by Beniquez. Bernie Carbo followed with a long double to right and that was all for starter Eduardo Rodriguez.

The Red Sox picked up where they left off in the sixth when Petrocelli walked, moved to second on a sacrifice by McCarver and scored on a double by Griffin. Guerrero scored Griffin with a single. Dwight Evans lofted a two-run homer into the screen in the seventh that scored Carbo, who was hit by a pitch.

The Brewers took advantage of three walks issued by Marichal to score four runs in the first inning. After a single by Ken Berry, George Scott walked, and Berry scored on a double by John Briggs. An intentional walk to Darrell Porter loaded the bases and another walk to Gorman Thomas forced in the second run. Johnson's single made it 4-0.

In the eighth, Porter singled and Thomas doubled him to third. With Bob Veale pitching, McCarver mishandled a fast ball and Porter scored, with Thomas following on a single by Tom Moore.

"A lot of things went right today," said manager Darrell

Ryan:
100.8

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Nolan Ryan added another record to his collection Saturday night.

The California Angels' right-hander, generally regarded as the major league's hardest thrower, uncorked a 100.8 mile per hour fastball in the ninth inning of a 3-1 Angel win over the Chicago White Sox.

Ryan's pitches during the game were measured by a device in the pressbox known as a "coherent infrared scanner." The device cast an infrared beam at a spot in front of home plate, measuring the speed of the ball as it passed the beam.

Angels' officials said Bob Feller's 98.6 MPH clocking in 1946 was the previous record. Ryan, who has pitched two no-hitters and owns the single-season strikeout record of 383, hadn't gone over 100 MPH until he faced Lee Richard in the ninth. His second pitch to Richard was clocked at 100.8 MPH.

"I've watched Ryan and I new he was the fastest I had ever seen," said Richard.

Ryan struck out nine to run his league-leading total to 315. He and his catcher, Tom Egan, weren't interested in speed tests.

"I'm just glad to get it all over with," Ryan said. "I picked up a little velocity later, but I just didn't have good stuff all night."

"I don't know why they made all that fuss," said Egan. "Everybody knows he's the fastest that ever lived. The only thing is for him to win 20 (he is now 18-15), and the experiment nearly ruined that. All that activity took away his concentration," Egan said.

Indians beat the Orioles.

Rangers 5, A's 1

Ferguson Jenkins tossed a seven-hitter and recorded his 22nd win of the season in a five-pitching the Rangers past the A's and moving surprising Texas to within 5½ games of first place Oakland in the West.

White Sox 1, Angels 0

California pitcher Andy Hassler allowed only one hit—a third-inning double by Lee

Richard—but lost the game on a throwing error by third baseballer Dave Chalk as the ended Baltimore's winning White Sox nipped the Angel streak at 10 games as the behind the combined seven-hi pitching of Jim Kaat and Terry Forster.

Twins 8, Royals 4

Light-hitting Phil Roof crashed a grand slam homer, in a five-pitching the first of his career, in a five-run sixth inning to lead Minnesota over the Royals. Behind 3-1, the Twins loaded the bases in the sixth on singles by Tony Oliva and Jerry Terrell, and a walk to Pat Bourque. When Danny Thompson walked, forcing in Oliva, Steve Mingori relieved starter and loser Bruce Dal Canton. 8-1. Roof greeted Mingori with his second homer of the year.

JIMMY CONNORS RUSHES THE NET

They'll Be Rooting For Kenny Rosewall

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — The throng at the Wimbledon final in July rooted in vain for Ken Rosewall to beat Jimmy Connors. The throng at the West Side Tennis Club today will root for Ken again.

For Kenny is its man. There are all the years ahead for the brash, sometimes abrasive Connors, to win here.

But the 22-year-old American looks upon every match as a personal war to be won, be the surface grass, clay, or broken bottles. The name of the game to him is "win"—and it matters not if the man on the other side of the net is, in his words, "a legend like Rosewall," or another 22-year-old like himself, another lefthander, this time Roscoe Tanner.

Connors took out Tanner in straight sets Sunday, 7-6, 7-6, 6-4. He took out the 39-year-old Rosewall in the Wimbledon final, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

Today he intends taking out Rosewall again, as quickly as possible.

Connors is sorry his bride-to-be, Chris Evert, lost her chance to add the U. S. Open crown to her Wimbledon diadem, but his at the Forest Hills title. He won pride in her could not be here in 1956—yep, 1956—and 14 diminished by Chris' valiant, yet failing, effort here against Evonne Goolagong.

Chris, down 6-0, 4-3 and a service break when rain halted play on Friday, gave the record crowd of 15,402 Sunday an unforgettable match, fighting off two match points to win the second set in tie-break, then see it all get away in a heart stopping third set when Evonne refused to crack and won it all, 6-0, 6-7, 6-3.

While Jimmy was consoling Chris, Rosewall was busy repeating his Wimbledon quarter final win over Forest Hills' defending champion John Newcombe.

As usual, Rosewall dropped the first set. As usual, he came on to win 6-7, 6-4, 7-6, 6-3.

"I thought John didn't know what to do," Rosewall said. "When I took the lead in the second set, John lost his rhythm on service. He couldn't decide whether to hit winners or keep the ball in play."

While Newk was making up his mind, Kenny was entering the final to get his third crack at the Forest Hills title. She has had no trouble reaching the final, and has been able to spread her gospel of women's lib without harming her play. But it is possible that Evonne, who had to fight for her life against Miss Evert, can find that that battle-hardening match will benefit her against the 30-year-old Ms. King.

As Vic Edwards, Evonne's trainer-manager said: "I have to like Evonne's chances. Billie's a year older, and Evonne has another year of experience. It can make all the difference."

GARY PLAYER BLASTS OUT OF THE SAND

Trevino Tops Player On 7th Extra Hole

By COMBINED SERVICES

AKRON, Ohio — Lee Trevino beat Gary Player with a par on the seventh sudden death playoff hole today — the second hole of the day — and claimed the $50,000 first prize in the World Series of Golf.

The playoff, third in the history of the World Series, which annually matches the winners of the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA, was halted Sunday by PGA Tour Director Jack Tunstall, who ruled at 7:30 p.m. it was too dark to continue.

"I would like to have called it a tie," said Player, who took a three-shot lead over Trevino into Sunday's final 18 holes and who at one time led the "Merry Mex" by six shots. Player had been scheduled to play an exhibition at Hilton Head, S.C., today.

Trevino, who had a one-under-par 69 Sunday and matched the one-under 36-hole total of 139 of Player, who had a 72 in the second round, was not as disturbed about staying around an extra day, possibly for just one hole.

"If a guy goes to see a ballgame he wants to see a winner," said Trevino. "I think the same goes for golf. I have a lot of things to do, but for $50,000 I'll cancel them."

Actually, Trevino is scheduled to be in Newark, Ohio, only 100 miles from here. "I'll only be a little late," he said. Player, who has won the World Series the last three times he has appeared and who could tie Jack Nicklaus for the most Series victories, four, said he could "not get excited" about continuing the playoff.

"There is no skill involved in it," said the little South African. "Anybody can beat me on just one hole, even a 14 handicapper. Sudden death is the worst thing that can happen in golf."

Bobby Nichols, the host pro at Firestone playing in his second World Series, shot a 37-35-72 Sunday and a 36-hole total of 143 to pick up third money of $7,500. Nichols got into this year's event by virtue of his win in the Canadian

Open, the first alternate tournament for the WSG, as Player won both the Masters and British Open.

Hale Irwin, the U.S. Open champion who was nine shots off the pace going into Sunday's action, had a 35-37-72 and finished at 148, collecting last-place money of $5,000.

Player, who was two under par through the first five holes Sunday and six strokes ahead of Trevino at the time, appeared to have an easy time of it until problems with his driving arose.

He bogeyed the sixth, ninth, 10th, 13th and 15th holes, all due to poor tee shots, while Trevino, who picked up seven strokes in a space of nine holes, actually grabbed the lead with a birdie on the par-four 14th.

Two holes later, however, Trevino ran into driving troubles of his own which cost him a bogey-six on the 625-yard (Monster) 16th hole, and things were all even again as Player parred.

Both players birdied the 17th.

Stars Get St. Jean

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Stars Sunday announced the signing of 33-year-old guard Len St. Jean, who has been drafted by the club as a future.

St. Jean played 10 years with the New England Patriots of the National Football League before being released last week.

The Stars also signed linebacker Marty Huff, a 6-2, 235-pound pro was released by Edmonton of the Canadian League. Huff, who previously played two years with the San Francisco 49ers, is a brother of Andy Huff, a fullback with the Stars.

Trevino with a 13-footer and Player from 12. On 18, Player hit a magnificent second shot to save par, knocking a two-iron out of a fairway trap some 210 yards from the green to just 14 feet from the hole.

The two players took turns scrambling back from defeat during the five playoff holes.

Both got rather routine pars on the first extra hole, the 410-yard par-four 14th, but Trevino was in real trouble when he hit his tee shot into some bushes to the left of the green on 15, the same barberry bushes which cost Player a bogey Saturday.

Somehow, Trevino got his second shot out of the middle of the bushes to just six feet from the hole and sank a par-saving putt.

Both players got shaky pars on the third sudden death hole. Player nearly knocking his third shot into the lake fronting the 16th green and Trevino having to make a four-foot putt for his par.

On the fourth extra hole, it was Trevino who was in the sand but came out eight feet from the cup and sank it to stay alive.

On the final hole of the day, with darkness closing in, Trevino had a 10-footer that would have won it but slid it by while Player had to make a five-footer to keep from being beaten.

Mets' 5, Cardinals 3

Wayne Garrett's three-run homer capped a four-run eighth inning that carried the Mets to victory over the Cardinals. Tom Seaver, though harassed by the base-stealing antics of Lou Brock, went the distance to gain his 10th win. Brock stole two more bases to lift his season total to 103—only one behind Maury Wills' modern record. His second theft of the game was the 738th of his career, enabling him to tie Max Carey for the NL record.

Phillies 11, Cubs 10

Willie Montanez drove in four runs with three hits to spark the Phillies' triumph over the Cubs. Jerry Morales hit a grand slam homer for the Cubs while Rick Monday had a solo shot.

Astros 3, Padres 2

Rookie Wilbur Howard hit his first major league homer in the seventh inning to give the Astros a victory over the Padres. Howard's blast was one of only four hits the Astros managed off lefthander Randy Jones, who also became a 20-game loser.

Braves 5, Giants 3

Vic Correll drove in three runs with a double and a single to lead the Braves over the Giants. Ron Reed went the distance to register his 10th win. Gary Matthews had a homer for San Francisco.

Spurrier Out 2 Months

The San Francisco 49ers lost more than an exhibition game Sunday afternoon when quarterback Steve Spurrier was knocked out of action for about two months.

Spurrier, a former Heisman Trophy winner from Florida, was looking forward to starting the National Football League campaign as the 49ers No. 1 quarterback for the first time in his eight pro seasons. But the Ram defense ended his plans, knocking him out of action in the third quarter with a right shoulder separation.

Joe Reed took his place but Los Angeles wound up with a 17-7 victory anyway to close out the preseason with a 5-1 mark.

In Sunday night games, the New England Patriots dumped the Philadelphia Eagles 27-17 and the Atlanta Falcons beat the Denver Broncos 20-14.

Spurrier was to be operated on today.

Reed, a three-year veteran out of Mississippi State who sometimes sings the National Anthem before ballgames, inherited Spurrier's starting spot.

Reed's efforts Sunday were highlighted by two pass interceptions and a five-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter.

Los Angeles led 3-0 at the half and wrapped it up in the third period with a pair of touchdowns. Defensive end Fred Dryer sacked Spurrier early in the quarter, the ball popped loose and Jack Youngblood, the other Ram end, grabbed it and raced 54 yards for one score. John Hadl tossed a 10-yard pass to Harold Jackson for the other.

Jim Plunkett completed 14 of 19 passes for 184 yards and one touchdown for New England.

Writers Honor

Levi Harner

Nearly 800 people attended the annual awards banquet of the Monticello-Goshen U.S. Harness Writers, Sunday night at Kutsher's Country Club.

The writers paid tribute to Levi Harner, who was guest of honor, and feted the Dan Garnatt Farms of Collins, N.Y. For excellence in standardbred breeding.

The highlight of the affair came when Monticello Raceway president Leon Greenberg presented the track's horsemen with the third annual Chic Feldman Humanitarian Award, for assisting in a community blood drive and raising funds to help a trainer-driver's sick child receive medical care.

Benitas Byrd received a special achievement trophy for her world's record 1:58.4 mile at Monticello, while the track's Aged Pacer and Trotter Awards went to Wico Dares and Sandy Lobell respectively. Buttonwood China (trotter) and Dear Ann (pacer) took the three-year old awards, while two-year old honors went to Rob Roy Hanover (trot) and Best Bizarre (pace).

As for the drivers, "We decided not to give an award for Dash Winner and Percentage Champion," according to dinner chairman and master of ceremonies Allen J. Finkelson. "The Dash Race between Cat Manzi and John Gilmour was too close, and so was the Percentage battle between Del Biccum and Clint Galbraith. We'll wait until the end of the meet."

HAPPY MAN — New Press poll agree with him. Syracuse coach Frank Maloney They have the Irish ranked exults in his team's 23-15 win third behind Oklahoma and over Oregon State Saturday, Ohio State.

Parseghian: 'We're Not No. 1'

ATLANTA (AP) — "We're not the No. 1 team in the country right now," says Ara Parseghian, coach of Notre Dame's defending college football champions.

That's Parseghian's honest opinion as the Fighting Irish prepare to open their season tonight in a nationally televised game (ABC-TV, 9 p.m., EDT) against Georgia Tech. And the sports writers and broadcasters who vote in The Associated Press poll agree with him.

They have the Irish ranked No. 2 behind Oklahoma and Oregon State Saturday, Ohio State.

There's just one small catch to Parseghian's assessment of his team.

"It's not significant to be No. 1 at this stage of the season," he says. "It's more of a handicap right now than an advantage. I'm not saying we won't be No. 1 at the end of the season. Our objectives are always the same — we'd like to go undefeated, we'd like to go to a bowl and we'd like to win the national championship. It's just going to be a lot more difficult this year."

Parseghian seemed to be sitting pretty following the 24-23 Sugar Bowl triumph over Alabama that nailed down the 1973 national crown. He expected 17 starters back to defend the title, but for one reason or another — injuries, accidents, university suspensions — five of them have been lost and three of their backup men also are sidelined.

Parseghian doesn't know too much about Georgia Tech, but neither does Pepper Rodgers, Tech's new coach. The Yellow Jackets will use the Wishbone offense, which helped Rodgers mold an awesome rushing attack at UCLA.

In Saturday's action, UCLA and Tennessee battled to a 17-17 tie. The Bruins, ranked 12th, had a shot at winning in the final 14 seconds but Brett

White's 40-yard field goal attempt went wide.

Dave Buckley threw for two touchdowns and ran for a third as No. 18 North Carolina State piled up 30 points over the final two quarters to whip Wake Forest 33-13. The Wolfpack gained 265 yards rushing while holding the Deacons to just 45.

No. 15 Arizona State upset No. 11 Houston 30-9 with sophomore Freddie Williams racing 69 yards for one touchdown and going four yards for another.

CLB Association Meets Wednesday

KINGSTON
The September meeting of the Ulster County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities will be held 8 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 11, at the Edison School, Merilina Avenue.
Guest speaker will be Mrs. Margaret Koniz, director of medical and educational dietetics at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie. Her topic will be Food for Life, detailing the normal nutritional needs and the importance of good nutrition for school age children.
Mrs. Koniz, a registered member of the American Dietetic Association and community nutrition chairman for the New York State Dietetic Association, is a consultant for the Albany Regional Medical Program. She is a member of the New York Nutritional Council and the National Society for Nutritional Education.

JUST TRYING TO HELP — It's a brand new world for Amy Jackson, right, and her friend Don Neilson, and it obviously is not designed for the kindergarten set. As Amy informs Don that little kids use the lower hangers, he wonders how to retrieve his coat hung several feet above his head by his well meaning teacher in Saratoga Springs. (UPI)

Youth Cited In Robbery

KINGSTON
Frank Hardin, 17, of 17 Hone Street, Kingston was arrested late Saturday night by city police on a warrant charging him with second degree robbery.
The arrest was in connection with an Aug. 17 incident when Hardin allegedly robbed Thomas H. Smith Jr., 17, of 119 Cedar Street, of some $30 on Wurts Street, according to court records.
Following arraignment Hardin was confined in Ulster County Jail without bail pending a re-appearance in court today.

The Joiners

Walter J. Steigerwald Jr. will also speak on the highlights of the International Conference held by the Society last month in Dallas, Tex.

LEGAL NOTICE

The City of Kingston Laboratory is soliciting sealed bids for laboratory uniforms. Specifications may be obtained at the Laboratory, 400 Broadway, any weekday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Bids are due no later than 12 noon, on September 12, 1974, and will be publicly opened at that time.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that a tariff filing has been made which provides for the introduction of Design Line Telephone service on a trial basis, for a period of 2 years ending September 30, 1976. The proposed effective date is October 1, 1974.
Design Line Telephones are antique or decorative type keyless, portable telephones consisting of distinctively styled enclosures (Design Line Enclosures) combined with electrical and mechanical telephone components (Design Line Units) to function as regular telephone instruments. Design Line Enclosures, which are available in a variety of colors, fabrics or decorative materials, are purchased by the subscriber from the Telephone Company. The Company retains ownership of the Design Line Units.
Hereafter, all the Design Line Enclosures listed below, except the Early American model, have been furnished on a trial basis only in Syracuse and nearby exchanges and PhoneCenter locations.

Design Line Enclosure Model	Non-Recurring Charge
Accent	$5.95
Antique Gold	109.95
Candlestick	64.95
Celebrity	69.95
Chestplate	99.95
Early American	99.95
Elite	69.95
Exeter	49.95
Madison	99.95
Midwestern	99.95
Stoneway	99.95

†Trademark of American Telephone & Telegraph Company.
‡The applicable monthly rate and service connection charge for the service with which the Design Line Telephones are associated and the applicable charges for jacks also apply.
*Available with TOUCH-TONE or rotary dials. Other models available with rotary dials only.

Subject to tariff provisions, repair and maintenance of the Design Line Unit will be the responsibility of the Telephone Company at no charge.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed proposals will be received by the Town Board of the Town of Hurley, Ulster County, New York, at the Town Hall in Old Hurley, Town of Hurley, New York, at 8:00 p.m. on the 23rd day of September, 1974, at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud for the necessary land fill and maintenance of the Town Dump situated on the Dutch Hill Road in said Town of Hurley.
The bidder must certify that he will comply with Sections 19.1 through 19.5 of the Town of Hurley Charter, and the State Sanitary Code pertaining to sanitary land fill and maintenance of disposal areas.
A performance bond covering the entire land fill and maintenance operation must be provided by the successful bidder.
The Town Board of the Town of Hurley reserves the right to reject any and all of the proposals if they deem it in the best interest of the Town of Hurley.
PATRICIA GLASS, Town Clerk
Town of Hurley, New York
Dated: September 9, 1974.

PUBLIC HEARING

The Zoning Board of Appeals of the Town of Esopus will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, September 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Esopus Town Hall, Port Ewen, N.Y.
The following applications will be heard:
1. A variance submitted by Leslie V. Mott, Executor, to build a one family residence in an area zoned "Neighborhood Commercial."
2. Beverly H. Slight Jr., is requesting permission to construct a small engine and motor bike repair shop on Salem St. in an R-4 zone, "One Family Residence."
3. George Williams, 26 Dubois St., Kingston, N.Y., requests permission to relocate a mobile home on Ulster Ave. in an area zoned, R-40, "One Family Residence."
4. Louis Volpe, Agent, Rieger Homes Inc., Poughkeepsie, N.Y., requests permission to relocate a mobile home on a lot size with less than the required side yard regulations in an R-12 zone.
Respectfully submitted,
Zoning Board of Appeals
Town of Esopus

TOWN OF ULSTER

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

CONSTRUCTION OF A NEW TOWN OFFICE BUILDING
The Town Board of the Town of Ulster, Ulster County, New York, will receive sealed proposals for the general construction of a Town Office Building consisting of:
A. Foundation and Basement Construction
B. First Floor Steel Building
C. Plumbing
D. Heating - Ventilating - Air Conditioning
E. Electrical
at the Office of the Town Clerk, on Route 9W, Lake Katrine, New York, 3:00 p.m. Eastern daylight savings time, Wednesday, October 2, 1974, and at that time and place all proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud.
Plans and specifications for the proposed building are on file and publicly exhibited at the Office of the Town Clerk, Route 9W, Lake Katrine, New York and copies of said specifications can be obtained on request.
A deposit of $35.00 (thirty-five dollars), payable to the Town of Ulster, will be required for each set of plans and specifications furnished to prospective bidders. If plans are returned within 10 (ten) days after the opening of bids, deposit checks will be refunded.
Each proposal must be accompanied by a Certified Check in the sum of $5% (five per cent) of the amount of the bid, drawn upon a National or State Bank or Trust Company, to the order of the Town of Ulster, or a bond with sufficient sureties in a penal sum equal to 5% (five per cent) of the amount of the bid, equal to 100% (one hundred per cent) of the contract amount will be required of the successful bidder and the bond shall be satisfactory to the Town Board.
Bids will be received for any contract, including but not limited to, singular and/or multiple contracts, and/or total general construction and/or any combination thereof, and time is of the essence of the contract and completion of the work of the contract must be completed by the date of the acceptance of the contract. The bidder, to whom each contract may be awarded, has seven days after the date of notification of the acceptance of his proposal, and there sign the contract for the work in triplicate. In case of his failure to do so or a failure to give further security as herein prescribed, the bidder will be considered as having abandoned the same, and the Certified Check or other bid security accompanying his proposal shall be forfeited to the Town.
The Town Board of the Town of Ulster reserves the right to waive any informalities in or to reject any or all bids submitted.
By Order of the Town Board of the Town of Ulster.
/s/ ROBERT MOREHOUSE
Town Clerk
Dated: September 6, 1974.

The Zoning Board of Appeals of the Town of Esopus will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, September 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Esopus Town Hall, Port Ewen, N.Y.
The following applications will be heard:
1. A variance submitted by Leslie V. Mott, Executor, to build a one family residence in an area zoned "Neighborhood Commercial."
2. Beverly H. Slight Jr., is requesting permission to construct a small engine and motor bike repair shop on Salem St. in an R-4 zone, "One Family Residence."
3. George Williams, 26 Dubois St., Kingston, N.Y., requests permission to relocate a mobile home on Ulster Ave. in an area zoned, R-40, "One Family Residence."
4. Louis Volpe, Agent, Rieger Homes Inc., Poughkeepsie, N.Y., requests permission to relocate a mobile home on a lot size with less than the required side yard regulations in an R-12 zone.
Respectfully submitted,
Zoning Board of Appeals
Town of Esopus

TOWN OF ULSTER

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

CONSTRUCTION OF A NEW TOWN OFFICE BUILDING
The Town Board of the Town of Ulster, Ulster County, New York, will receive sealed proposals for the general construction of a Town Office Building consisting of:
A. Foundation and Basement Construction
B. First Floor Steel Building
C. Plumbing
D. Heating - Ventilating - Air Conditioning
E. Electrical
at the Office of the Town Clerk, on Route 9W, Lake Katrine, New York, 3:00 p.m. Eastern daylight savings time, Wednesday, October 2, 1974, and at that time and place all proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud.
Plans and specifications for the proposed building are on file and publicly exhibited at the Office of the Town Clerk, Route 9W, Lake Katrine, New York and copies of said specifications can be obtained on request.
A deposit of $35.00 (thirty-five dollars), payable to the Town of Ulster, will be required for each set of plans and specifications furnished to prospective bidders. If plans are returned within 10 (ten) days after the opening of bids, deposit checks will be refunded.
Each proposal must be accompanied by a Certified Check in the sum of $5% (five per cent) of the amount of the bid, drawn upon a National or State Bank or Trust Company, to the order of the Town of Ulster, or a bond with sufficient sureties in a penal sum equal to 5% (five per cent) of the amount of the bid, equal to 100% (one hundred per cent) of the contract amount will be required of the successful bidder and the bond shall be satisfactory to the Town Board.
Bids will be received for any contract, including but not limited to, singular and/or multiple contracts, and/or total general construction and/or any combination thereof, and time is of the essence of the contract and completion of the work of the contract must be completed by the date of the acceptance of the contract. The bidder, to whom each contract may be awarded, has seven days after the date of notification of the acceptance of his proposal, and there sign the contract for the work in triplicate. In case of his failure to do so or a failure to give further security as herein prescribed, the bidder will be considered as having abandoned the same, and the Certified Check or other bid security accompanying his proposal shall be forfeited to the Town.
The Town Board of the Town of Ulster reserves the right to waive any informalities in or to reject any or all bids submitted.
By Order of the Town Board of the Town of Ulster.
/s/ ROBERT MOREHOUSE
Town Clerk
Dated: September 6, 1974.

NOTICE

TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS:

The following summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to the order of the Supreme Court, held in and for the County of Ulster, and filed with the complaint in the office of the clerk of the County of Ulster.
The object of this action is to partition the property described below, or if partition thereof cannot be made, to obtain the sale thereof and division of the proceeds, and such other and further relief as may be just.
The property in question is described as follows:

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be sure to follow through on promises you've made to your mate or partner. Half-measures will anger you more than is reasonable.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may feel you'll have time for both your responsibilities and your pleasurable pursuits today — but you won't.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're apt to jump at the first price offered for something you want to buy. Move slowly and bargain a bit.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In order to sell your ideas to others today it's going to take more than just a light presentation. Know your subject thoroughly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A sure to follow through on promises you've made to your mate or partner. Half-measures will anger you more than is reasonable.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is not a good time to get too involved with friends where money is concerned. Something might go wrong and hard feelings could result.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're normally a very sharing person but today you're likely to place your interest far above your teammates.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you keep looking for ulterior motives in everything another more than just a light something that will cause you undue distress.

Jim: "The bidding in the box shows standard American getting to the same spade slam. North opens in third seat; jump rebids in his suit; raises spades to four and leaves the rest to South."

Oswald: "It requires a little faith in partner for South to go on but he should. South has a perfect hand for Blackwood after North's very strong bidding and can bid the slam confidently after North shows three aces."

Oswald: "Gadgets are great help in World's championship slam bidding. But most of the time common sense bidding, plus a simple convention like Blackwood, will do the trick."

Jim: "I have a hand right here. I watched a very gadget-minded pair get to six after South opened with a weak two-bid. They were very proud of their method which involved an asking bid in hearts."

Oswald: "Asking bids were invented by Ely Culbertson in Backgammon is a game played with dice and counters on a board divided into two tables each marked with 12 points in which each player tries to move his own counters from point to point and off the board while also trying to block or capture those of his opponent. A backgammon game was found in Babylonian excavations making the game one of the world's oldest. The World Almanac says.

10 Seconds Short, $6 Million Richer

ROCKET SHIP HEADS DOWN

KNIEVEL TELLS WHAT HAPPENED (UPI TELEPHOTOS)

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Evel Knievel blasted over the Snake River Canyon in a powerful steam rocket Sunday but a puzzling, premature parachute opening yanked him to a halt and dropped him on the near shore of the river, $6 million richer but 10 seconds short of his 8-year goal.

Knievel's "skycycle" bumped and battered against the lava walls of the canyon as he floated down into the 600-foot deep gorge and bounced onto a rock outcropping.

The motorcycle stuntman's face was cut and bruised and his knees were lacerated, but he was not hurt otherwise.

"The people prayed and God made the wind blow," Knievel said, explaining the 15 mile per hour breeze that blew him back to a landing on the south shore of the river and saved him from possible drowning in the turbulent currents at mid-stream.

The rocket ascended for only 8.7 seconds. Had it gone on as planned, an extra 10 seconds of thrust was expected to have carried him to the other side.

There were conflicting explanations about just what went wrong with the much ballyhooed launch.

Evel said first that he had accidentally popped the chute—designed to bring him to earth after he had crossed the 1,600-foot-wide canyon—because he had been taught by rocket designer Robert Truax that "if I could see the opposite walls of the canyon, instead of just sky, to pull the chute because that meant I was rolling"—going out of control.

But television tapes of the launch showed the parachute began deploying as the "skycycle" boomed up the short, steeply inclined launch ramp with a blast of steam power that awed spectators.

It was braking the rocket even as it shot off the ramp bound for the other side of the chasm.

The crowd gasped and shouted in alarm as the "skycycle" floated down out of view. Knievel could be seen struggling with the straps holding him in, trying to bail out with a reserve parachute before he got too low to use it.

"I've heard it said that it's not whether you've won or lost but how you've played the game," Knievel said.

"And to lose to a beautiful canyon like this is, to me, not a real loss. I would rather have had a happy landing on the other side."

Robert Arum, president of

Top Rank Inc., promoters of the leap, said it was a draw—the jump. He pulled the trigger expected to take in about $26 million in revenue from the $25 a head admission fee at the site, closed circuit television showings and other income.

Carmen Demolishes Sugar Crop

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Hurricane Carmen slammed into coastal Louisiana this weekend and demolished the state's sugar crop. No one was killed and the storm degenerated into a 35-mile-an-hour rainstorm and drifted westward across Texas today.

"What's doubly bad about this is that this particular crop was badly needed for the sugar for our country," Gov. Edwin Edwards said Sunday after touring the stricken area. The cost of the damage was estimated at $400 million.

"The farmers were all looking at this year and all of a sudden this hurricane comes and dashes their dreams," the governor said.

As he spoke children paddled their canoes up and down the flooded road separating Bayou Lafourche from their homes.

The governor said a presidential disaster declaration could be beneficial to homeowners and businessmen but not to sugar cane growers.

"The main damage seems to be to the sugar cane crop," he said. "It looks like 75 per cent of it is damaged beyond repair which means an economic loss to the farmers of about $100 million."

"This is multiplied by four times to get the impact to the total economy."

Carmen whirled off the Louisiana coast in the Gulf of Mexico virtually stalled for hours Saturday night before chugging ashore about sunrise Sunday.

Its gusty, 180 m.p.h. winds weakened immediately over the marshy coastline but flooding rains fell for hours.

An estimated 100,000 persons from Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi fled inland ahead of the storm. No fatalities were reported.

The majority of the refugees returned to their homes today.

"It looks like everything is coming along beautifully," said Roy Barrios, Civil Defense director of Galliano, La.

"It's very encouraging to see the tide go down this way. We're going to need a little luck and a lot of graces from the old man upstairs. We won't be able to get an actual survey of the damage until the people return to their homes."

Galliano residents and residents of Golden Meadow and Grand Isle, La., were blocked from their homes by the tidal surge covering the highways.

National Guardsmen remained in the flooded areas to keep out looters until all residents had returned.

The National Weather Service said Carmen spun off a tornado near Waynesboro, Miss., Sunday afternoon and another near Florida, Ala., Sunday night but no injuries or damages were reported.

88 Feared Dead in TWA Crash

ATHENS (UPI) — Searchers from the U.S. aircraft carrier Independence and Greek ships gave up hope today for all 88 persons aboard a crippled Trans World Airlines 707 jetliner that crashed Sunday in the Ionian Sea.

"We don't expect to find any survivors," said Ammanuel Kefaloyannis, Greek deputy minister of transportation who was in charge of all search efforts.

Kefaloyannis said that as of mid-morning, the Independence and a Greek vessel had recovered 17 bodies. He said they would be flown to Athens for autopsies before being handed over to next of kin.

A maverick Arab guerrilla group said in Beirut a commando on a death mission bombed the Boeing 707, but the major Palestinian organization denied involvement by any recognized guerrilla band.

Autopsies would indicate if the victims died in an explosion or the crash.

"We are still searching the area for other bodies and debris from the crash and whatever items we can find which can help with the investigation of the disaster," Kefaloyannis said.

Athens airport officials discounted earlier reports that life rafts had been spotted in the choppy waters of the Ionian Sea between Greece and Italy where the plane went down.

TWA reported 79 passengers and nine crew members aboard Flight 841, which was also scheduled to stop in Rome on the flight from Israel to the United States.

A spokesman said 23 of the passengers gave the airline U.S. addresses, but it was uncertain whether all were Americans. He said 34 passengers, including two infants, were traveling to New York.

An air traffic controller said the pilot reported trouble in his last radio contact with Athens airport. "He then said he would try to make it to Corfu because one engine was on fire," he said.

Officials at Corfu airport, which has the only runway in the area able to handle big jets, alerted firefighters for an emergency landing.

In Beirut, a guerrilla group calling itself the Arab Nationalist Youth Organization for the Liberation of Palestine claimed responsibility for the crash.

A commando communiqué said a Chilean guerrilla of Palestinian origin blew up the plane after carrying a bag of explosives aboard. A TWA spokesman said a Chilean, identified as Jose Santos, boarded the aircraft in Athens.
